NOTE: While each of these laws applies to the States, not all regulations governing these laws apply to States. Federal regulations implementing the various civil rights and equal opportunity laws contain a further explanation of policies and a description of the laws. The State should adopt appropriate procedures and requirements to assure good faith efforts toward compliance with the objectives of the statutes/executive orders. The State may refer to HUD regulations for guidance indicative of the Secretary's view of statutory objectives. Where HUD regulations do not exist, guidance is provided in governmentwide regulations.
