FINAL SUPERNOFA SATELLITE BROADCAST

In addition to broadcasting video over the World Wide Web, HUD broadcasts video over satellites. If you have a moveable satellite dish you can tune in broadcasts from your home or office. Satellite coordinates may change, so check back here the day before the broadcast for updates.

The satellite coordinates will be:

C-Band

GE-1(Keycode W-1)

Transponder 1, Channel 1

3720 MHz, Horizontal

103 Degrees West

and for the SuperNOFA broadcasts, we will simulcast on the Ku-Band:

Thursday April 7

12:30 to 5:00 p.m.

SBS6 - Transponder 15

HUD broadcasts live video two ways -- by satellite and over the WWW. If you have a moveable satellite receiver, you can tune into the broadcasts using these coordinates.

If your PC has internet access, is equipped for sound, and you have Real Player installed, you can view our live broadcast by following the links below.

We also occasionally provide the audio only portion of our broadcasts over the telephone. You will need to know the phone number and password to participate.

All times shown are eastern time. A link to the live broadcast will appear on this page approximately 1/2 hour before the broadcast begins.

All SuperNOFA broadcasts are designated below by (SuperNOFA training) after the title and are available after the broadcast in the video library.
