

V. Additional Model Testing

Additional research was performed to test the forecasting models used in the study. An alternate modeling approach was developed using sample data at the individual loan level. Discussion of the results of this research will be released in a supplemental report.