2. The Corbin Housing Authority's community centers shall be more effectively utilized to provide resident services as measured by increasing their utilization to 25% of the time by March 31, 2004.

Some of the highlights of this plan include the following:

- ◆ The Corbin Housing Authority will comply with new requirements to deconcentrate levels of poverty in its developments by offering incentives to move lower income applicants into relatively higher income developments and higher income applicants into relatively lower income developments.
- ◆ Flat rents, based on market value, have been developed for each unit owned and managed by the Corbin Housing Authority as a way of attracting and retaining working families. Families will annually be given a choice of having their rent computed on the traditional "percentage of income" formula basis or the flat rent.

- ◆ In another attempt to encourage working families to live in Corbin Housing Authority units, those with family members working at least 30 hours per week will be given preference over non-working families. In addition, if they choose the formula rent, they will pay a rent based on 20%, instead of 30%, of their gross income.
- ◆ To ensure that the neediest also continue to be housed, the Corbin Housing Authority will give the highest preference to the elderly and disabled and ensure that it complies with federal legislation that at least 40 percent of its new admissions will make no more than 30 percent of the area median income adjusted for family size.

In summary, we are on course to preserve and enhance low-income housing options in Corbin..
