[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (r)]

Provide a brief overview of the information in the Annual Plan, including highlights of major initiatives and discretionary policies the PHA has included in the Annual Plan.

The Wood River Housing Authorities annual plan is based on the premise that if we accomplish our goals and objectives, we will be working towards the achievement of our missions.

The Wood River Housing Authority manages 20 apartments for public housing. The HA is managed by an Executive Director and employs three part time employees to assist in housekeeping, maintenance and yard work.

Our target population is for elderly and disabled persons but we also have expanded our cliental to other eligible families and individuals who are neither of the above.

To be in compliance with the QHWRA and in order to ensure our effective operations, our agency plans to enforce a number of policies. These policies are always on display in our community room and ensure smooth operations in many areas including that of admissions and occupancy, capitalization, disposition of property and so on.

1. Statement of Housing Needs

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (a)]

METHODOLOGICAL REMARKS

A number of constraints affected the results of the housing needs assessment:

- Geographic Unit of Reference: HUD generated and manipulated databases (CHAS, 2020 software) relevant to the housing needs assessment are mostly available at the county level (and, in some cases, census tracts). Other sources of data (Census Bureau updates, U.S. Dep. of Commerce, Nebraska Consolidated Plan) also tend to treat the County as the smallest unit of reference. Therefore, Wood River specific needs were determined based on the relative size of its population in Hall County, Census-based income distribution among age groups, and adjusted according to available up-to-date information.
- Market Area: Based on HUD requirements, the focus of this study is the housing authority jurisdiction. However, from a planning perspective, a more effective analysis should have covered a larger market that captures the farms surrounding Wood River.
- Current Information: The most comprehensive data available for the housing needs assessment is 1990 Census. Some estimations are conducted annually by the Census Bureau, the U.S. Department of Commerce, and other government agencies. However, these estimations are insufficient to determine current local income distribution, immigration, and age structure.
- Nebraska Reference: The existing Nebraska State Consolidated Plan, which provides the framework of reference for this needs assessment, is applicable to the years 1990-2000. The State of Nebraska is currently in the process of creating a new consolidated plan, which should be available in the summer of 2000.
 - o Given the above constraints, the needs assessment presented in this agency plan is based on 1990 data. Implicitly, it is assumed that the 1990-1999 conditions have not drastically changed the conditions in Wood River.
- Target Population: In assessing the housing needs, we have considered income, housing tenure, and cost burden. Known (CHAS) problems with housing structure are only available for the County and could not be adjusted to the jurisdiction. As mentioned, the needs assessment does not account for needs of [some] elderly for more age appropriate housing in cases where needs do not surface through the above criteria (renters cost overburden and known problems).

BACKGROUND - GENERAL CONDITIONS

Population: Wood River is located in Hall County. Its 1990 and 1998 population consisted of about 2% of County population. 1998 population estimates suggest that both the county and the town gained population, which is very unusual in most rural counties. County population increase was by 6%, whereas Wood River population increase was by 10%. Unfortunately, there is no data concerning the changes in age distribution.

The population is aging. Nearly 22% of 1990 population was 65 years and older (compared to an average 14% in Hall County). These elderly consisted of nearly 4% of the County elderly population, which is higher than the relative size of the total population. A large percentage of elderly in the town probably represents movement of farmers who can no longer work in the farm.

Housing Stock: The housing stock is rather old. The structure of about 36% of the 1990 housing units are 60 years and older; additional 10% are now 40-60 years old.

Most (75%) of housing units were owner occupied. Elderly comprised of about 29% of homeowners which, is a high proportion compared to the total number of elderly households of the entire community. At the same time, the relative number of elderly renters was also high (28%). Together, the above tenure structure may point at a community that it attracting a large number of farmers, possibly from surrounding areas.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

Needs Results: As shown in the table below, the number of households in need for affordable housing is low given the large number of renters and households with low-moderate income. The relatively limited housing needs for low income households should probably be credited to the public housing units and the LIHTC project in Wood River.
