ii. Executive Summary of the Annual PHA Plan

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (r)]

Provide a brief overview of the information in the Annual Plan, including highlights of major initiatives and discretionary policies the PHA has included in the Annual Plan.

The Randolph County Housing Authority's plan for 2003 continues the goals indicated in the previous years. The only changes will be the following:

1. The payment standard will increase to 109% of the 2002 FMR. This will apply to one, two and three bedroom units. It would only apply to a larger unit when it is being purchased through the Section 8 HomeOwnership Plan.
2. Last year we put in our plan that we would ask for a higher administrative fee. We did not do this because we did receive a reasonable increase this year and we were able to retain the contract management of Beverly Manor. While we serve five counties and have extra expenses, these two events allow to meet our administrative expenses.
3. The RCHA wants to attach Section 8 assistance to the eight units being constructed in Randolph County. It also wants to commit up to 36 vouchers to an apartment building for the elderly and handicapped that a for-profit developer wants to build. HUD has been approached for a waiver on its rule that no project based certificates will be allowed in census tracts where more than 30% of the households pay more than 50% of their income for rent and utilities. A waiver was requested and denied. The response said that the RCHA would have to prove that their action had a positive impact on the deconcentration of poverty. HUD staff need to understand the lack of infrastructure limits geographic choices. A waiver will be resubmitted in conjunction with the developer.

4. The RCHA has wanted the opportunity to apply for more capital funds to develop single family houses for homeownership. Since it appears that these funds are not going to be available, we are going to discontinue putting this in the plan.

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (k)]

The RCHA has had a 5(h) Homeownership Program (51 units) and continues to work on increasing homeownership by using the proceeds of sale to continue building more houses for eligible families. The RCHA has founded and is a major sponsor of a non-profit called the HomeOwnership Center, Inc. with staff that are trained in housing counseling and loan origination through certification courses at the Neighborhood Reinvestment Corporation's Institutes. Through the RCHA and the HomeOwnership Center, area residents have access to budget/credit counseling and training in all areas of home purchase, maintenance and foreclosure prevention. Local residents also have access to most of the state housing finance agency's loan products along with other loan products available through the Federation of Appalachian Housing Enterprises (a regional CDFI) and CommunityWorks (a statewide CDFI).

The RCHA plans to start a Section 8 Voucher Homeownership Program this year. The goal for the first year is two new homebuyers.

Required Attachment: Resident Membership on the PHA Governing Board

A meeting was held on December 13, 1999, with four of the six Homeownership Program participants who had volunteered to be on the Resident Advisory Board. (Twenty-five Section 8 clients were invited personally to the public hearing in September in order to get volunteers for the Resident Board, but no one came.)

The Executive Director explained that before it was a rule, the RCHA requested the County Commission to appoint a participant of the Homeownership Program on the Board of Commissioners of the RCHA. The first person served for five years and the second started her five-year term in 1999.

The Executive Director explained the HUD guidelines that say a consumer representative can be asked to step down if they no longer meet the definition of "directly assisted" or they can be allowed to fill out their term. I explained the current consumer had purchased her house through the RCHA program and was the beneficiary of a silent second mortgage held by the housing authority.

The members of the Resident Advisory Board were told that they could vote to replace the current consumer representative if they wanted to do so. They were advised that if they wanted to replace her that they should let the Executive Director know by January 16. No one objected to the current consumer representative.

Membership of the Resident Advisory Board

In 1999, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shreve, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tramell, Mrs. Debbie Dumire and Ms. Simone Bradley agreed to serve on the advisory board. All are (or were) participants in the Homeownership Program.

Only the Shreves and Tramells came to the first meeting. Ms. Dumire has moved out of state and the Tramells, while still in the Homeownership Program, were in a very serious motorcycle accident and will be unable to participate for a while.

At a public meeting on the new voucher program, the Executive Director gave a presentation on the Resident Advisory Board and asked for volunteers to serve on the board. The following people filled out a form expressing interest in board membership:

DECONCENTRATION POLICY

The Deconcentration Policy of the Randolph County Housing Authority will be to review the locations where our Section 8 tenants have leased units and determine if there is a need to create policies which will create more diversity of tenants in certain areas. This review will be done each year before our annual agency plan is due.

Our units are scattered over a six county area. Randolph County alone is nearly as big as the state of Rhode Island. This is not an issue in our area.

It is not an issue for our homeownership program either. Not more than 4 houses were developed in any one neighborhood. All units are completed and all but one are occupied by purchasers

A lack of infrastructure limits where people can live in rural areas. One strategy to deconcentrate the number of people paying more than 50% of their income for housing would be to build units which would charge affordable rents. Attaching Section 8 vouchers to these units further dissipates the number of families with housing problems.

Dotted lines are agencies formed by the RCHA but not controlled by the RCHA. Cooperative relationships exist among all three organizations
