Progress Report:

The Housing Authority is proactive in its efforts to expand its stock of affordable housing. Lilac Meadow, an 82 unit project combining Rural Development Farmworker housing and Low Income Housing Tax Credit housing for the general working population making less than 60% of AMI, was recently completed. The Authority is hoping to break ground on an 82 unit LIHTC project in Medford and a 12 unit HOME project in neighboring Central Point, Oregon. They have been funded but the bids are coming in higher than the amount funded due to increased building costs since the funding date and the prevailing wage issues that have arisen in the meantime from the State of Oregon. Building Affordable Housing is very costly.

The Agency purchased a 24 unit project in the nearby town of Shady Cove in 2005, using a Risk Share Loan from the State of Oregon and 4% Tax Credits. All Housing Authority projects bring services to the tenants. The challenges the Authority faces at this time is the rising cost of building and purchasing affordable housing in our real estate market. Southern Oregon is experiencing escalating real estate costs from the immigration of retirees but the wages in the area are held low due to the nature of a service economy.

The Agency desperately needs Section 8 vouchers to help those tenants at the lowest level of incomes (30% of AMI and below). The housing the Agency is building can only reach down to 50% of AMI, maybe slightly lower. The capital subsidy available is not enough to get the rents any lower. This leaves the Agency with a gap in housing the lower income population. The population of Southern Oregon is growing a fast rate yet we have not been given additional assistance to house this growing lower income population. This results in more homeless individuals on the streets in our community.

ii. Executive Summary of the Annual PHA Plan

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (r)]

Provide a brief overview of the information in the Annual Plan, including highlights of major initiatives and discretionary policies the PHA has included in the Annual Plan.

The Housing Authority of Jackson County, in the next year, intends to manage existing programs effectively. The Housing Authority has always presented an excellent presence in the community with units that are well maintained and an organization that works well with other service providers. The Agency is working to remove the Troubled Status dealing with the financial reporting, through an MOA with HUD.

In the coming year the Authority plans to start the process of applying for the Disposition of the single family units in its Public Housing stock. The Authority will be requesting Housing Choice Vouchers to assist with the relocation of the families as they vacate these homes. The funds from the sale of these properties will be leveraged into new Affordable Housing for the residents of Jackson County.

The result of this Disposition Activity will be the eventual vouchering out of all Public Housing units that are under the control of the Housing Authority.
