The mission of the Housing Authority of the County of Kings is to promote decent, safe, and affordable housing and economic opportunity to low-income families. We are committed to assisting low-income families with incomes below 80% of area median, adjusted for family size.

The Housing Authority's primary goal is to promote and provide a healthy, drug and crime-free environment where all residents may have peaceful enjoyment, and comfortable living arrangements without discrimination.

The Housing Authority can carry out these activities itself or it can jointly venture or contract with any other public or private party under powers granted by the California State Housing Authorities Law.

ii. Executive Summary of the Annual PHA Plan

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (r)]

Provide a brief overview of the information in the Annual Plan, including highlights of major initiatives and discretionary policies the PHA has included in the Annual Plan.

The analysis of housing needs and the strategies, financial resources, and policies described in the Annual Plan will guide the Housing Authority in accomplishing its five-year goals and objectives. Highlights of the FY 2006 Annual Plan include the following.

- The Housing Authority will continue to offer site-based public housing waiting lists. Applicants who are employed in one town will not be faced with choosing to move to another community and have a long commute, quit their jobs, or not receive affordable rent. There is very limited public transportation among the widespread communities and, in winter, thick tule fog makes commuting particularly hazardous. Applicants will continue to be able to apply for any or all of the developments.
- The Housing Authority will continue to target admissions of families with a broad range of incomes to its public housing developments. In the Housing Authority's experience, a rich diversity of residents contributes to an overall improvement of the neighborhood.
- The Housing Authority will continue modernization activities to upgrade the appearance and amenities of its aged and modest public housing stock to enable the developments to be more competitive with newer local tax credit complexes, which offer exceptional amenities and low rents.
- The Housing Authority will allow residents of its public housing developments to own common household pets in accordance with the pet policy.
- The Housing Authority will maintain the community service requirement only when required to do so by the regulations.
- The Housing Authority's payment standard will be 110% of Fair Market Rents to provide an adequate selection of Section 8 rental stock under HUD's funding constraints.

- The Housing Authority will continue to apply for additional vouchers as they become available. Kings County generally has double-digit unemployment rates and available jobs are often seasonal and/or relatively low-paying ones. The need for rental assistance exceeds the current funding levels.
- The Housing Authority will consider applying to extend its Section 8 income-targeting requirements waiver in order to maintain maximum funding utilization. After obtaining the original waiver, 100%+ occupancy in the Housing Choice Voucher Program was achieved.
- The Housing Authority will consider implementing a Section 8 Homeownership Program.
- The Housing Authority will consider project-basing some of its vouchers.
- The Housing Authority will maintain its Family Self-sufficiency Program. Funding will be sought to continue the Family Investment Center's job-related computer training.
- The Housing Authority will support equal housing and employment opportunities regardless of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, familial status, and disability. The Housing Authority will explore methods of ensuring that complete and consistent housing information is provided to everyone.
- The Housing Authority will encourage resident involvement. Staff will continue to assist the Resident Council in promoting activities and establishing incentives to increase resident participation. Outreach for tenant representatives to fill openings on the Housing Authority's boards will continue.
- Where possible, the Housing Authority will attempt to reduce funding constraints that prevent implementation of desirable programs and discretionary rent-setting policies. Kings County is a rural primarily agricultural county with relatively few of the low/no-cost public and private resources that are available in the larger metropolitan areas. These factors, when coupled with the income-targeting requirements and relatively low Section 8 administrative fees compared with other California counties, create financial impacts both on the agency and on its eligible clientele. Public housing development rental income is reduced through income targeting. In addition, the agency is able to assist fewer Section 8 families since extremely low-income families require a larger dollar amount of assistance. The Housing Authority will continue to apply for grants for special programs and additional voucher funding.

Attachment A

Admissions Policy for Deconcentration Admissions Policy for Deconcentration

SECTION 200, PART V TENANT SELECTION AND ASSIGNMENT POLICY

1. Objective:

It is the policy of this Authority to avoid concentration of the most economically and socially deprived families and to house families with a broad range of incomes, representative of the range of income of low-income families in the area of operation, and with rent paying ability sufficient to achieve financial stability of the HUD-aided housing units. To accomplish this objective, studies will be conducted at least annually to compile the following data:

- a. Distribution of incomes of all low-income families in the area of operation of this Authority and average rents that would be achieved from these families.
- b. Actual distribution of incomes of all families residing in the HUD-aided housing units and average rents that are being achieved from these families.
- c. Distribution of incomes of all applicants and average rents that would be achieved from these applicants.
- d. Average operating costs of HUD-aided housing units.
- e. Average rents required to meet the operating costs.

2. Rent Ranges:

On the basis of the foregoing data, rent ranges for use in the selection of tenants will be established in a manner as to accomplish, insofar as possible, the following goals:

- a. A tenant body comprised of families with a broad range of incomes, representative of the range of incomes of low-income families in the area of operation.
- b. Sufficient rental revenue to cover operating costs.

To achieve the income-mixing and deconcentration goals, the use of rent ranges permits the skipping of a family on the waiting list specifically to reach another family with a lower or higher income as appropriate. Higher income tenants are brought into lower income developments and lower income tenants are brought into higher income developments to achieve the appropriate income mix. The application of rent ranges and the targeted rent range percentages are consistent at all developments.

3. Additional Deconcentration/Income-mixing Efforts:

- a. Site-based waiting lists will be utilized.
- b. Comparable amenities and supportive services are available to the residents of all developments.
- c. Marketing efforts are being made to expand the applicant base.

3. Fair Housing Compliance:

The Housing Authority will not permit unacceptable disparities between areas or buildings within developments to achieve its deconcentration and income-mixing goals. The Housing Authority will affirmatively further fair housing and civil rights laws so that racial steering and other housing discrimination does not result.

Attachment B

Pet Policy Description

The Housing Authority allowed common household pets such as birds, fish, cats, dogs, hamsters, etc., in its public housing developments beginning July 1, 2001. Excluding fish, there is a limit of one pet per unit.

Owners are required to maintain their pets responsibly and in accordance with applicable state and local laws and with the Housing Authority's pet policy.

Exotic animals and animals not permitted by law/local ordinance (for example, ferrets or chickens) will be prohibited.

Pets must be registered initially and annually thereafter. Proof of applicable license, inoculations, spaying or neutering of cats or dogs, identification tags, a photograph of the pet, and a statement naming an emergency custodian of the pet are required in order to register the pet. There is an additional $150 security deposit and an annual $75 fee to cover reasonable pet-related operating expenses, such as clerical and inspection costs.

There are size and weight limitations on dogs.

Owners shall be given a notice to correct any problems regarding pets that pose a nuisance, such as disturbing the peace of the complex by excessive barking or unruly behavior. At management's request, owners must immediately remove any pet that poses a hazard or engages in dangerous behavior, such as biting or attacking an animal or person.

Pet owners will be liable for any damages caused by their pets. Residences with pets must be maintained in a clean and sanitary manner and are subject to monthly inspections.

Residents who "pet sit" will be required to fully comply with the pet policy.

Unattended animals, such as those left inside automobiles on hot days, abandoned animals, strays, and pets that the alternate pet custodians refuse to care for will be subject to removal.

The pet policy (except requirements to maintain the animal responsibly, register the animal, and be responsible for damages) and pet deposit will not apply to animals such as seeing-eye dogs, which are used to assist individuals with disabilities. However, a resident who wishes to be excluded from the pet policy for this reason will be required to furnish evidence that he/she requires an assistive device and that the animal has been appropriately trained.

Attachment E

Community Service Description

The Kings County Housing Authority accepts any combination of community service and self-sufficiency activities performed in Kings County totaling eight hours per month to meet the Community Service requirement.

Community service activities include but are not limited to activities improving the physical environment of the resident's development, volunteer work in a local school, hospital, or child care center, working with youth organizations, helping neighborhood groups on special projects, or participation in programs that develop and strengthen resident self-responsibility such as drug and alcohol abuse counseling and treatment, household budgeting, credit counseling, and English proficiency.

Apprenticeships, job readiness training, substance abuse and mental health counseling and treatment, Family Investment Center classes, and credit counseling are considered activities that promote economic self-sufficiency.

The Housing Authority links residents with agencies seeking volunteers or providing self-sufficiency activities. Political activity, hazardous work conditions, or labor that would otherwise be performed Housing Authority employees for essential services are unacceptable. Volunteers are responsible for providing signed attendance records to the Housing Authority annually.

The Housing Authority verifies compliance with the requirement at least 30 days prior to the end of the lease term as part of the annual re-examination process. The family is given a 30-Day Notice of Termination of Tenancy if a household contains a nonexempt adult who has failed to comply. However, the eviction will be suspended if both the non-compliant adult(s) and the head of household sign an agreement to make up the total hours needed within the next 12-month period. Subsequent failure of the family to complete the required hours will result in eviction of the entire family, unless the noncompliant person is no longer a part of the household.

The Housing Authority verifies all exemptions and maintains documentation in the resident's file. Exemption status, except birth date, is re-verified annually. Residents may request a change in exemption status during the year. The Housing Authority will approve the change after documentation to support the request has been provided and the change will be effective the first of the month following the request. A resident who does not notify the Housing Authority of a change in status and/or does not provide acceptable verification will not be exempt from the community service requirement. Exemptions are given for persons aged 62 or older, persons with disabilities to the extent the disability makes the person unable to comply, persons engaged in work activities as defined by section 407(d) of the Social Security Act (a list of such activities is included in the admin plan), persons participating in a welfare-to-work program, and persons receiving assistance from and in compliance with a state program funded under part A, Title IV of the Social Security Act.

 - The PHA shall take reasonable measures to assure that such waiting list is consistent with affirmatively furthering fair housing;
 - The PHA provides for review of its site-based waiting list policy to determine if it is consistent with civil rights laws and certifications, as specified in 24 CFR part 903.7(c)(1).

To: Public Housing Residents, Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Participants, and Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Landlords

Congress found a strong link between domestic violence and homelessness and determined that women and families across the country were being discriminated against because of their status as domestic violence victims. Therefore, Congress enacted Public Law 109 - 162, the Violence Against Women and Department of Justice Reauthorization Act of 2005 (VAWA). On January 5, 2006 President Bush signed it into law.

The law was passed in order to protect the safety of victims, create long-term housing solutions, build collaborations among victim service providers, and enable housing providers to respond appropriately to domestic violence.

VAWA, which applies to both genders, provides protections for victims of domestic or dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking who are applicants for or participants in public housing and the Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program.

VAWA requires housing authorities to notify its public housing residents, Housing Choice Voucher participants, and Housing Choice Voucher landlords about the law. The attached notice, courtesy of the National Law Center on Homelessness and Poverty, describes important features of the VAWA. The law itself may be accessed on the Internet through <http://www.gpoaccess.gov/plaws/index.html>. Section 606 applies to the Housing Choice Vouchers and Section 607 applies to Public Housing. If you have questions or need legal advice about the law please consult with an attorney.

Sincerely,

Donna Wilkinson
Housing Management Coordinator

Notice to Owners and Managers of Section 8 Voucher-Assisted Units

- You may not deny a voucher-assisted applicant admission to housing solely because an applicant is or has been a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, if he or she otherwise qualifies for admission.
- Acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against a tenant or occupant do not provide good cause for terminating the tenancy or occupancy of the victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- Acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against a tenant or occupant do not constitute a serious or repeated lease violation by that tenant or occupant.
- Criminal activity directly relating to domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking is not cause for terminating the tenancy of the victim of that violence, unless you can demonstrate there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if the victim's tenancy is not terminated.
- If a perpetrator and victim of the violence share a residence, you may bifurcate the lease and terminate the tenancy of the perpetrator based on his or her criminal acts of physical violence without evicting or otherwise penalizing the victim of that violence. If the victim of the violence otherwise meets program requirements, you may not terminate his or her tenancy or occupancy unless, as set out above, you can demonstrate there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if the victim's tenancy is not terminated.
- You are obligated to honor court orders addressing tenants' and occupants' rights of access to and control of a unit, including civil protection orders issued to protect a victim of domestic violence and court orders issued to address the distribution of property upon family dissolution.
- If you seek to terminate the tenancy of a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking for lease violations unrelated to the domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, you cannot hold the individual to a more demanding set of rules than you apply to tenants who are not victims of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- You must give any tenant whose tenancy you are seeking to terminate notice that if he or she can prove or "certify" that he or she is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, then he or she is entitled to the above rights.
- A tenant must be given at least 14 business days to obtain this certification that he or she is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking. You have unlimited discretion to grant the tenant additional time.

- There are certain documents that you must accept as proof that the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, including police or court records and certain statements from attorneys, medical professionals, and domestic violence advocates. You also have unlimited discretion to accept any other kind of evidence that shows a tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.

- Specifically, you must accept any one of the following documents as sufficient proof that the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking entitled to the above rights:

- A written, signed statement from a victim services provider that states under penalty of perjury that the provider believes the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser.
- A written, signed statement from a medical professional that states under penalty of perjury that the medical professional believes the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser.
- A written, signed statement from an attorney that states under penalty of perjury that the attorney believes that the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser. The tenant must also sign the document.
- A written, signed statement from an attorney that states under penalty of perjury that the attorney believes that the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser. The tenant must also sign the document.
- A police record that indicates the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- A court record (for example, a protective order) that indicates the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking and that names the abuser.

- You must keep confidential any information a tenant provides about domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against him or her unless the tenant gives you permission to share the information with someone else. You may use this information, however, if it is necessary for an eviction proceeding (for example, in order to evict an abuser). You may also disclose this information if required to do so by law.

- If state or local law provides greater protection for the housing rights of victims of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking than the protections set out above, you must abide by these laws.

For more information, see 42 U.S.C. 1437ff(o), (ee) (2006).

Notice to Section 8 Voucher Holders

Have you been a victim of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking?

If so, you should know your rights as a Section 8 voucher holder:

- You cannot be denied a housing voucher solely because you are or have been a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- A landlord cannot refuse to rent to you solely because you are or have been a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- Your abuser's acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you are not good cause for evicting you. You do not violate your lease by being the victim of acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- Your abuser's acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you are not good cause for revoking your housing voucher.

- Your abuser's acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you are not good cause for revoking your housing voucher.
- Your landlord cannot evict you from your unit on the basis of criminal activity directly relating to domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you, unless your landlord can show there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if you are not evicted.
- Your housing voucher cannot be revoked on the basis of criminal activity directly relating to domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you, unless the agency providing your voucher can show there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if the voucher is not revoked.

- If you and your abuser live together, your landlord can evict your abuser for his or her acts of domestic violence, but your landlord may not evict or otherwise penalize you, unless (as described above) your landlord can show there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if you are not evicted.
- If you and your abuser share a housing voucher, your abuser can be removed from the voucher for his or her acts of domestic violence, but (assuming you continue to qualify for the voucher) you cannot lose the voucher on this basis, unless (as described above) the agency providing your voucher can show there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if the voucher is not revoked.

- Your landlord may evict you for serious or repeated lease violations that are unrelated to the domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you, as long as it does not hold you to a more demanding set of rules than it applies to tenants who are not victims of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.

- Your voucher may be revoked based on serious or repeated lease violations that are unrelated to the domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you, as long as the agency providing the voucher does not hold you to a more demanding set of rules than it applies to voucher-holders who are not victims of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.

- Your landlord or the agency providing your housing voucher can ask you to prove, or “certify” that you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking and thus entitled to the above rights.

- If the landlord or voucher agency asks you to certify that you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, you must be given at least 14 business days to collect the necessary proof. Your landlord or voucher agency is also free to grant additional time.

- There are certain documents that your landlord or voucher agency must accept as proof that you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, including police or court records and certain statements from attorneys, medical professionals, and domestic violence advocates. The landlord or voucher agency also has discretion to accept any other kind of evidence that shows you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.

- Specifically, any one of the following is sufficient proof that you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking entitled to the above rights.

- A written, signed statement from a victim services provider that states under penalty of perjury that the provider believes the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against you and that names your abuser. You must also sign the document.

- A written, signed statement from a medical professional that states under penalty of perjury that the medical professional believes the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating, or stalking against you and that names your abuser. You must also sign the document.
- A written, signed statement from an attorney that states under penalty of perjury that the attorney believes that the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating, or stalking against you and that names your abuser. You must also sign the document.
- A police record that indicates you were a victim of domestic violence, dating, or stalking and that names your abuser.
- A court record (for example, a protective order) that indicates you were a victim of domestic violence, dating, or stalking and that names your abuser.

• In general, your landlord or voucher agency must keep confidential any information you provide about the violence against you unless you give permission for it to share the information with someone else. The landlord may use this information, however, if it needs the information in an eviction proceeding (for example, in order to evict an abuser). The landlord or voucher agency can also disclose this information if required to do so by law.

• If you move out of a voucher-assisted unit in violation of your lease in order to protect your health and safety or that of a member of your family because you have a reasonable belief that you are threatened with harm from further domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking if you remain in the unit, you may move with your voucher to another jurisdiction.

Notice to Public Housing Managers

- You may not deny an applicant admission to public housing solely because an applicant is or has been a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, if he or she otherwise qualifies for admission.
- Acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against a tenant or occupant do not provide good cause for terminating the tenancy or occupancy of the victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- Acts or threats of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against a tenant or occupant do not constitute a serious or repeated lease violation by that tenant or occupant.
- Criminal activity directly relating to domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking is not cause for terminating the tenancy of the victim of that violence, unless you can demonstrate there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if the victim's tenancy is not terminated.
- If a perpetrator and victim of the violence share a residence, you may bifurcate the lease and terminate the tenancy of the perpetrator based on his or her criminal acts of physical violence without evicting or otherwise penalizing the victim of that violence. If the victim of the violence otherwise meets program requirements, you may not terminate his or her tenancy or occupancy unless, as set out above, you can demonstrate there is an actual and imminent threat to the safety of other tenants or staff if the victim's tenancy is not terminated.

- If you seek to terminate the tenancy of a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking for lease violations unrelated to the domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, you cannot hold the individual to a more demanding set of rules than you apply to tenants who are not victims of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- You must give any tenant whose tenancy you are seeking to terminate notice that if he or she can prove or "certify" that he or she is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, then he or she is entitled to the above rights.
- A tenant must be given at least 14 business days to obtain this certification that he or she is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking. You have unlimited discretion to grant the tenant additional time.
- There are certain documents that you must accept as proof that the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, including police or court records and certain statements from attorneys, medical professionals, and domestic violence advocates. You also have unlimited discretion to accept any other kind of evidence that shows a tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.

- Specifically, you must accept any one of the following documents as sufficient proof that the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking entitled to the above rights:

- A written, signed statement from a victim services provider that states under penalty of perjury that the provider believes the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser. The tenant must also sign the document.
- A written, signed statement from a medical professional that states under penalty of perjury that the medical professional believes the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser. The tenant must also sign the document.
- A written, signed statement from an attorney that states under penalty of perjury that the attorney believes that the incidents in question were acts of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against the tenant and that names the abuser. The tenant must also sign the document.
- A police record that indicates the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking.
- A court record (for example, a protective order) that indicates the tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking and that names the abuser.

- You must keep confidential any information a tenant provides about domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking against him or her unless the tenant gives you permission to share the information with someone else.
