This information collection is authorized by Section 511 of the Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act, which added a new section 5A to the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 that introduced 5-year and annual PHA Plans. The full PHA plan provides a ready source for interested parties to locate basic PHA policies, rules, and requirements concerning the PHA's operations, programs, and services, and informs HUD, families served by the PHA, and members of the public of the PHA's mission and strategies for serving the needs of low-income and very low-income families. This form allows eligible PHAs to make a streamlined annual Plan submission to HUD consistent with HUD's efforts to provide regulatory relief for certain types of PHAs. Public reporting burden for this information collection is estimated to average 11.7 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. HUD may not collect this information and respondents are not required to complete this form, unless it displays a currently valid OMB Control Number.

Date: October 2006

This notice is to inform you of your rights under the Violence against Women Act (VAWA). This new law includes several provisions that address housing needs, which protect you if you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. VAWA became law in January 2006 and applies to Section 8 Voucher program applicants and participants.

VAWA says that the Metro HRA or a private landlord who accepts Section 8 Vouchers cannot deny housing assistance to a tenant or a tenant's immediate family member just because she or he is a victim or threatened victim of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. This means that if you have been denied housing assistance because of a bad rental history or police calls that directly results from domestic violence, dating violence or stalking, you should contact the HRA to assert your rights under VAWA.

VAWA also says that the Metro HRA or a private landlord who accepts Section 8 Vouchers cannot terminate your voucher or evict you if the termination or eviction is the result of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. This means that if you have been threatened with termination of your Section 8 Voucher or eviction because of an abusers actions toward you or your immediate family members, you should contact the HRA to assert your rights under VAWA.

VAWA also says the Metro HRA may not terminate or deny a move under portability to a participant who is otherwise in compliance with program rules and has moved out of the assisted unit in violation of the lease to avoid harm from actual or threatened domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking. This means that the Metro HRA may not deny a portability move if you violated previous assisted lease terms solely to flee domestic violence.

VAWA also says the Metro HRA may request that you verify the actions are the result of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. This means if a victim fails to provide certification or an acceptable alternative form of documentation within the time allotted by Metro HRA, the victim is no longer entitled to the special protection from eviction or termination provided by VAWA.

The Metro HRA and the private landlord who accepts the Section 8 Voucher program can evict or terminate the abuser and continue to work with you.

VAWA does not change the other rights and responsibilities of the Metro HRA or private landlord to enforce Section 8 Voucher program requirements or the lease.

If you have questions about how to claim your rights under VAWA, you should contact the Metro HRA or Legal Services in your community.
