TO: ALL RESIDENTS AND APPLICANTS FOR HOUSING AT THE HOUSING AUTHORITY OF BOWLING GREEN

On January 5, 2006, President Bush signed into law the "Violence Against Women and Department of Justice Reauthorization Act of 2005" (Public Law 109-162). The law became effective that same day. In addition to reauthorizing many programs at the Department of Justice, the bill reauthorizes and expands provisions of the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), which was originally enacted in 1994.

The law defines domestic violence as "felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabiting with or has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction receiving grant monies, or by any other adult person against a victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction receiving grant monies." Dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking are included in the definition of domestic violence.

The most significant affect the law has on Public Housing residents and applicants for housing at a public housing project is that an individual's status as a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking is NOT an appropriate basis for denial of housing or eviction from public housing. The new law does NOT change existing eligibility and continuing occupancy requirements. Domestic Violence victims must still otherwise qualify for admission to and continuing occupancy of public housing.

The Housing Authority of Bowling Green has long recognized the needs of victims of domestic violence by making that one of the preferences for admission. The Housing Authority is committed to these victims, as well as members of their immediate family, and to compliance with the VAWA law and will expand the applicant preference include victims of dating violence, sexual assault and stalking. The Housing Authority will require a certification as to the incident(s) of violence and will provide a form for the certification.

The PHA MUST keep all information and certification obtained by the PHA about a victim's status confidential. The information will not be entered into any shared database or provided to any related entity. However, the PHA may disclose the information if the victim requests or consents to the disclosure in writing; the information is required for use in eviction proceedings related to whether the incident or incidents in question qualify as a serious or repeated violation of the lease or criminal activity directly relating to domestic violence, dating violence or stalking; or is otherwise required by law.

If you have any questions or need additional information, you should contact the Housing Authority management staff.
