We offer the following changes in the Authority's previous Agency plan covering fiscal years 2005-2009.

Goal 1: Reinvention of the Family Housing Complex

The Authority's management continues to study the viability of structures at the family housing complex. The engineering study at this property is partially complete. The Authority had developed a partnership in place in conjunction with Corning Community College to provide on site training for various life skills. However, due to fiscal concerns, Corning Community College had to discontinue this program. The Authority continues to promote programs of this type. ProAction of Steuben and Yates, Inc. currently is partnering with the Authority to provide a lunch program for the children at the Authority's family complex.

Goal 2: Insure access to Transportation for all Residents

Goal number two in the Authority's preceding Agency Plan dealt with insuring access to transportation to all residents of the Authority's properties. The Authority currently has public transportation a pick-up/drop-off site at both of its elderly complexes. The family complex has public transportation in the vicinity for use of its residents. We continue to petition and advance to the proper local government officials to have a site directly on this property.

Goal 3: Increase Homeownership in the Hornell Community

Training to our Public Housing residents and Housing Choice Voucher holders is provided through the Tri-County Housing Council. To date, one Housing Choice Voucher holder purchased property in the City of Hornell. The Authority is continuing to explore the feasibility of created a Housing Trust Fund to be spent on affordable housing initiatives.

Goal 4: Expand Family Housing Opportunities

The Authority has brought to light the issues hindering expansion of family housing. Though no new clustered housing properties have been built, the Authority continues to upgrade, renovate, and make available the nine properties.

Goal 5: Promote quality services for families and individuals

The Authority continues to have an open Family Self-Sufficiency program, as well as other support services at communal areas on its property. We continue to explore methods to increase resident participation in such activities. The Authority has in place an on-site clinic with partnership from the St. James Mercy Health System. The Authority has also provided programs through the University of Cornell Cooperative Extension program that imparts nutrition and family budgeting plan aimed at improving residents' health. The Authority has also compensated outside agencies to make speaking presentations for our elderly residents with the corresponding tenant association approval.
