

AGAIN!!

Multi-Family (MF) and Public Housing Authority (PHA) Property Representatives Request Training - And HUD Delivers!!

For the second time this summer, we have provided training to MF and PHA property owners. On August 14, 2003, a group of multi-family property representatives from the Washington, DC area, along with representatives from a PHA in Michigan, completed a three-day training course on Uniform Physical Condition Standards (UPCS) Inspections. The training provided them with the essential tools and knowledge to understand the requirements of the REAC physical inspection process. Participants learned how to navigate the PASS Software, the REAC Inspector Protocol and Procedures, and the UPCS Definitions. The training was held at the REAC. According to the participant's evaluations, the training was very well received.

If you are a property owner, agent or representative of a property that is required to have a REAC Physical Inspection, or any PIH-REAC business partner, and would like to learn more about the inspection process, please contact us at the e-mail address below:

The next training is scheduled for October 7 – 9, 2003.
Please email to register.

This training is not for inspector certification.
