Register Today: 2022 ConnectHomeUSA Virtual Summit - October 25-27, 2022

HUD's Office of Public and Indian Housing is sponsoring a 3-day virtual summit on timely digital inclusion topics for ConnectHomeUSA (CHUSA) communities, public housing authorities (PHAs), tribes, multifamily housing owners and operators, public-private stakeholders, and anyone interested in digital inclusion. Participants will hear from a wide range of organizations, from federal agencies tasked with administering new broadband funding programs, private-sector stakeholders who will provide updates about their programs, to CHUSA communities that have innovative programs to share!

The summit will feature training webinars and breakout sessions which will allow participants to engage directly with speakers and leave with tools for continued growth. Learn more about ConnectHomeUSA.

Training Objectives

At the conclusion of the summit, participants will be able to:

- Identify federal funding opportunities and strategies to support the growth and success of your digital inclusion initiatives
- Collaborate with CHUSA communities and public-private stakeholders to improve program design and implementation
- Understand what innovative solutions and best practices communities around the country are using to advance digital equity in their communities

Who Should Attend?

This summit is intended for CHUSA communities, other PHA staff, tribes, and public-private stakeholders interested in bridging the digital divide through affordable broadband service, devices, and digital literacy training.
