Eliminates the requirement for FHA-administered interest rates, and instead, allows FHA to operate under a negotiated interest rate structure. Eliminates the aggregate 20 percent cap on coinsurance because that coinsurance maximizes the role of the private sector, reduces processing time through lender processing, and reduces HUD's exposure to losses through risk sharing. Repeals the Section 8 New Construction and Substantial Rehabilitation programs (except in connection with section 202 projects).

Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act of 1998 (Public Housing Reform Act) (Public Law 105-276 (Title V), 10/21/98)

Makes significant changes in the public housing and Section 8 tenant-based programs. Substantially deregulates high-performing public housing authorities, decreases poverty concentrations in public housing and promoted mixed-income communities, ensures that a threshold share of units and housing vouchers remain available for the truly needy, and creates incentives for residents to become self-sufficient. QHWRA authorizes a new public housing homeownership program (the Public Housing Homeownership program), as well as the Section 8 Homeownership program. HOPE VI is codified under the Act, as the Department's mixed finance program.

VA-HUD Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 1999 (Public Law 105-276 10/21/98)

For FY 1999, Congress approves 50,000 new housing vouchers to help individuals and families with worst case housing needs and help families move from welfare to work. This Act also increases FHA's single-family loan limits, giving HUD the opportunity to provide more affordable mortgages to first-time, minority and central-city homebuyers, and substantially amends FHA Single Family Property Disposition requirements. The higher loan limits and simplified downpayment requirements create new opportunities, especially in high cost areas, for borrowers to become first-time homeowners. The property disposition reforms permit FHA to modernize its sales procedures to take advantage of the latest methods to finance the sale and purchase of single-family loans or dwellings from HUD's inventory. This Act also provides authority and funding for the New Approach Anti-Drug Program. Authority and funding has been provided for this program in subsequent appropriations.

Enables HUD to develop a broad range of housing options to meet the changing housing needs of senior citizens, and authorizes Mark-up-to-Market, which protects low-income renters by minimizing the number of owners that choose to “opt-out” of the project-based housing assistance program. In the Mark-up-to-Market initiative, project owners, with well-maintained projects in sound financial condition, are permitted to receive increased section 8 assistance payments, if current rents are below market, and to retain a larger portion of project surplus income in exchange for their agreement to continue participation in the project-based section 8 program, thereby preserving a low-income housing resource.

VA-HUD Appropriations Act for FY 2000 (Public Law 106-74 10/20/99)

Amends section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 by the addition of Section 202b and provided appropriations for this program to fund conversion of units in existing section 202 projects for the elderly to assisted living facilities. The main purpose is to facilitate "aging in place" for project residents who are becoming frail after having lived in a section 202 project for a number of years and to avoid moving them to nursing homes. Such assisted living facilities must be licensed under State or local law and must be assisted living facilities as defined in section 232 of the National Housing Act. Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008, Public Law 110-289 (7/30/08)

The Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 (HERA) makes major reforms that affect the government assistance to the housing market, primarily through two areas: (1) comprehensive reform to the regulation of the government-sponsored enterprises (GSEs); and (2) comprehensive reform to the National Housing Act, which governs HUD's FHA insurance programs. HERA is a compilation of separate statutes such as the Federal Housing Finance Regulatory Reform Act of 2008, which overhauled regulation of the GSEs, and the FHA Modernization Act, which made long-sought reforms and updates to FHA's insurance programs, primarily, the single family insurance programs. In addition to these two major reforms, HERA also amended the U.S. Housing Act of 1937, to address regulatory burden on small public housing agencies (PHAs), and made certain reforms to HUD's affordable housing preservation programs. HERA also introduced three new programs for which HUD has responsibility, two of which are temporary programs. The first temporary program is the Emergency Assistance for the Redevelopment of Abandoned and Foreclosed Homes, which authorizes funding to the 50 States to address the foreclosure crisis. This program is referred to as the Neighborhood Stabilization Program. The second temporary program is the HOPE for Homeowners program, a temporary FHA program designed to assist troubled homeowners keep their homes through mortgage modification. The third program is the Secure and Fair Enforcement (SAFE) Mortgage Licensing Act, which authorizes HUD to oversee that the 50 States establish uniform licensing requirements for loan originators, consistent with the minimum requirements of the SAFE Act, and by the deadlines imposed.

Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 (Public Law 110-343 10/3/2008)

The Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-21 5/20/09)

The Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (FERA) improves the enforcement of mortgage fraud, securities fraud, financial institution fraud, and other frauds related to federal assistance and relief programs. First, FERA amends the federal criminal code to include within the definition of “financial institution” a mortgage lending business or any person or entity that makes, in whole or in part, a federally related mortgage loan. The Act defines “mortgage lending business” as an organization that finances or refinances any debt secured by an interest in real estate, including private mortgage companies and their subsidiaries, and whose activities affect interstate or foreign commerce. FERA extends the prohibition against making false statements in a mortgage application to employees and agents of a mortgage lending business.

The Act authorizes appropriations for the HUD Inspector General to investigate mortgage fraud, and for investigations, prosecutions, and civil and administrative proceedings involving federal assistance programs and financial institutions. The Attorney General, in consultation with the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, the Inspector General for HUD, the Secretary of Homeland Security, and the SEC Commissioner, is required to submit a report to Congress identifying amounts spent for investigations and amounts recovered from criminal or civil restitution, fines, penalties, and other monetary recoveries.

FERA amends the False Claims Act to expand liability under such Act for making false or fraudulent claims to the federal government, and apply liability under such Act for presenting a false or fraudulent claim for payment or approval. It requires persons who violate the Act to reimburse the federal government for the costs of a civil action to recover penalties or damages.

Preventing Mortgage Foreclosures and Enhancing Mortgage Credit (Public Law 111-22 5/20/09)

Preventing Mortgage Foreclosures and Enhancing Mortgage Credit was enacted to prevent mortgage foreclosures and enhance mortgage credit availability. This public law has two main divisions: Division A – The Helping Families Save Their Homes Act of 2009 and Division B – the Homeless Emergency Assistance and Rapid Transition to Housing Act of 2009 (HEARTH Act). Division A of the Act accomplishes many goals in order to strengthen the housing sector. First, it amends the National Housing Act to authorize the Secretary of HUD, for mortgages in default or facing imminent default, to modify such mortgages and establish a program for payment of a partial claim to a mortgagee who agrees to apply the claim amount to payment of a mortgage on a 1- to 4-family residence. The Act also grants the Secretary the authority to establish a program for assignment to HUD of a guaranteed mortgage on a 1- to 4-family residence in or facing imminent default. In addition, Division A of the Act authorizes the Secretary to pay the mortgage guaranty, without reduction for any amounts modified, but only upon the assignment, transfer, and delivery to the Secretary of all rights, interest, claims, evidence, and records with respect to the mortgage.

Division A of the Act amends the Foreclosure Prevention Act of 2008, with respect to emergency assistance for the redevelopment of abandoned and foreclosed homes. It authorizes each state that has received certain minimum allocations and has fulfilled certain requirements, to distribute any remaining amounts to areas with homeowners at risk of foreclosure or in foreclosure without regard to the percentage of home foreclosures in such areas.

Division A amends the National Housing Act to modify the HOPE for Homeowners Program. It transfers to the Secretary of HUD, from the current Board of Directors of the HOPE for Homeowners Program, all responsibility to establish HOPE requirements, standards, and prescribe related regulations. The Act replaces the Board of Directors with an Advisory Board, and revises requirements for borrower certifications in applying for insurance of a refinanced eligible mortgage. Division A of the Act authorizes the Secretary to pay the servicer of the existing senior mortgage for every loan insured under the HOPE for Homeowners Program, as well as to the originator of each new loan insured under this program. It also establishes a procedure, if feasible, for an auction to refinance eligible mortgages on a wholesale or bulk basis.

The HEARTH Act, Division B of the overall law, consolidates the separate homeless assistance programs carried out under title IV of the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (“McKinney-Vento Act”) into a single program with specific eligible activities. Currently, the separate homeless assistance programs consist of the supportive housing program and related innovative programs, the safe havens program, the section 8 assistance program for single-room occupancy dwellings, and the shelter plus care program. The Act codifies into federal law the continuum of care planning process as a required and integral local function, and it establishes a federal goal of ensuring that homeless individuals and families return to permanent housing within 30 days. In addition, the HEARTH Act amends the current Rural Homeless Housing Assistance program under subtitle G of title IV of the McKinney-Vento Act to establish the Rural Housing Stability Assistance Program.

The HEARTH Act provides a new definition for the terms “homeless”, “homeless individual”, and “homeless person”, as well as providing for any individual or family fleeing domestic violence or other dangerous or life threatening conditions. The Act requires relevant parties in a geographic area to establish a collaborative applicant to apply for homeless assistance grants. A collaborative applicant does not have to be a legal entity, and it must design a collaborative process for the development of an application for grants, as well as a process for evaluating the outcomes of projects that receive funding. The Secretary will award grants on a competitive basis using the selection criteria under the Continuum of Care Program to carry out eligible activities. In addition, the Act creates a new Emergency Solutions Grants Program, which replaces the Emergency Shelter Grants Program.

Under the HEARTH Act, the definition of “rural area” is amended, and the Secretary must transfer an amount no less than 5 percent of the amount available under the Continuum of Care to the Rural Housing Stability Assistance Program. Any amounts so transferred and not used for rural grants due to an insufficient number of applications must be transferred back to the Continuum of Care.

No later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of the HEARTH Act, HUD must promulgate regulations governing the operation of the programs that are created or modified by this Act.

Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Public Law 111-203 7/21/10)

The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act or Act) was enacted to, among other things, promote the financial stability of the United States by improving accountability and transparency in the financial system, to end ‘too big to fail’, to protect the American taxpayer by ending bailouts, to protect consumers from abusive financial services practices. Key features of the Dodd-Frank are as follows:

Regulation of Credit Risk Retention. The Dodd-Frank Act establishes a new Section 15G of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 to require companies that sell mortgage-backed securities to retain at least 5 percent of the credit risk, unless the underlying loans meet standards that reduce riskiness. The Federal banking agencies and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) are responsible for jointly prescribing regulations to require any securitizer to retain an economic interest in a portion of the credit risk for any asset that the securitizer, through the issuance of an asset-backed security, transfers, sells, or conveys to a third party. In addition, the Federal banking agencies, the SEC, HUD, and the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA), will jointly prescribe regulations to require any securitizer to retain an economic interest in a portion of the credit risk for any residential mortgage asset that the securitizer, through the issuance of an asset-backed security, transfers, sells, or conveys to a third party. The Act exempts from the credit risk requirement any residential, multifamily, or health care facility mortgage loan asset, or securitization based directly or indirectly on such an asset, which is insured or guaranteed by the United States or an agency of the United States. This would include FHA and Ginnie Mae, but does not include Fannie, Freddie or the Home Loan Banks. For private sector mortgages, the federal banking agencies, the SEC, HUD, and the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency will jointly issue regulations to exempt qualified residential mortgages from the risk retention requirements of this subsection. This group will also jointly define the term “qualified residential mortgage”, taking into consideration underwriting and product features that historical loan performance data indicate result in a lower risk of default.

Establishment of Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. The Act authorizes, among other federal agency transfer of functions, the transfer of the following HUD consumer financial protection functions to the new Consumer Financial Protection Bureau: functions relating to the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 (RESPA), the Secure and Fair Enforcement for Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 (SAFE), and the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act. HUD employees who perform these functions will also transfer to the new Bureau. The Secretary of HUD and the Bureau Director will jointly determine the number of employees to be transferred in order to address the transferring functions.

Establishment of Office of Housing Counseling and Housing Counseling Procedures and Functions. The Dodd-Frank Act establishes the Office of Housing Counseling within HUD. The Dodd-Frank Act authorizes be appropriated $35,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2011 through 2012 for these grants.

The purpose of this law is to provide adequate commitment authority for fiscal year 2010 for guaranteed loans that are obligations of FHA's General and Special Risk Insurance Funds.

Increasing HUD's Flexibility to Set Mortgage Insurance Premiums for Federal Housing Administration Single Family Mortgage Loans (Public Law 111-229 8/11/10)

Public Law 111-229 was enacted to increase the flexibility of HUD with respect to setting and adjusting the amount of premiums charged for FHA single family housing mortgage insurance, and for other purposes. This Act amends section 203(c)(2) of the National Housing Act, which authorizes FHA to fix premiums charged for the insurance of mortgage to remove the requirement that FHA must establish and collect an annual premium. The amended language authorizes FHA to establish and collect an annual premium but no longer requires such action. Additionally, prior to amendment by Public Law 111-229, section 203(c)(2) of the National Housing Act provided that the amount of the annual premium is not exceed 0.50 percent of the remaining insured principal balance (excluding the portion of the remaining balance attributable to the premium collected under subparagraph (A) and without taking into account delinquent payments or prepayments) for certain periods. It repeals the authority of the Secretary to provide tenant-based rental assistance directly to eligible persons with disabilities, and instead authorizes appropriations for such assistance under section 8 (rental voucher program) of the United States Housing Act of 1937. Public Law 111-371 also modifies the requirements for the project rental assistance contract, including renewal of, and increases in, annual contract amounts, revises tenant selection procedures, requires a lease between a tenant and a housing owner to be for at least one year, and revises the application of cost limitations developed by the Secretary to supportive housing.

GPRA Modernization Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-352 1/4/11)

GPRA (the acronym is used as the name of the statute) stands for Government Performance and Results Act. Public Law 111-352 updates the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (Public Law 103-62). GPRA 1993 requires Federal agencies to engage in project management tasks such as setting goals, measuring results, and reporting their progress. In order to comply with the GPRA, Federal agencies must develop and produce: 5-year strategic plans that must contain a mission statement for the agency as well as long-term, results-oriented goals covering each of its major functions; and annual performance plans that establish the performance goals for the applicable fiscal year, including a brief description of how these goals are to be met, and a description of how these performance goals can be verified; and that review the agency's success or failure in meeting its targeted performance goals.

Public Law 111-353 continues the requirement for Federal agencies to develop and produce strategic plans an annual performance plans but makes several changes, including, but not limited to the following: changing the strategic plan to a 4-year strategic plan, and requiring the update of strategic plan every 4 years; requiring Federal agencies to consult with Congress and stakeholders in the development of their plans, and specifying how such consultation should proceed; requiring the agency's annual performance plan, now called agency performance plan, to accompany the agency's budget proposal submission to the President; requiring Federal agencies to publish their strategic and performance plans and reports in machine-readable formats; and requiring OMB to annually determine whether an agency meets the performance goals in its performance plan, or whether any goals are "unmet."

Requires the FHFA Director to prohibit a GSE from consummating any offer for a guarantee to a lender for mortgage-backed securities if: (1) the guarantee is inconsistent with the requirements of this Act; or (2) the risk of loss is allowed to increase, through the lowering of the underwriting standards or other means, for the primary purpose of meeting the requirements of this Act.

Requires direct deposit into the Treasury of any amounts received from fee increases imposed by this Act that are necessary to comply with the minimum increase required by this Act.

Requires the Director to require each GSE, as part of its annual report, to: (1) describe changes made to up-front fees and annual fees as part of the guarantee fees negotiated with lenders, changes to the riskiness of the new borrowers compared to previous origination years or book years, and any adjustments required to improve for future origination years or book years, in order to be in complete compliance with guarantee fee requirements; and (2) assess how the changes in such guarantee fees met the requirements of this title.

Biggert-Waters Flood Insurance Reform and Modernization Act of 2012 (Title II of Division F of Public Law 112-141 7/6/2012)

Title II of Division F of Public Law 112-141 reauthorizes and significantly reforms the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) for five years through September 30, 2017. The new law at section 100239, amends 42 U.S.C. § 4012a(b)) to allow for private insurance to meet the requirements for flood insurance coverage for purposes of securing a federally-backed mortgage, so long as the private insurance policy extends the same level of coverage as an NFIP policy. The law provides that each Federal agency lender shall accept private flood insurance as satisfaction of the flood insurance coverage requirement under the preceding sentence if the flood insurance coverage provided by such private flood insurance meets the requirements for coverage under such sentence. Although neither HUD nor FHA are Federal agency lenders, the requirement that a Federal agency lender accept private flood insurance coverage if it is determined to be satisfactory may have an impact on FHA-insured mortgages; that is, FHA may have to revise its regulations since FHA-approved lenders may be required to accept private flood insurance.

Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013 (Public Law 113-4 3/07/13)

This Act amends sections 6 and 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 to remove domestic violence protections and reorganize those rights under subtitle N of the Violence Against Women Act of 1994 (42 U.S.C. 14043e et seq.). Subtitle N now provides housing protections for victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking. These protections apply to covered housing programs. These programs include supportive housing for the elderly and persons with disabilities; housing for persons with AIDS; homeless programs; the HOME Investment Partnerships program; the rent supplement program under paragraph (3) of section 221(d) of the National Housing Act; the rent subsidy program under section 236 of the National Housing Act; housing assistance provided under sections 6 and 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937; rural housing assistance provided under sections 514, 515, 516, 533, and 538 of the Housing Act of 1949; and the low income housing tax credit program under section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

The various housing protections consist of prohibitions against the denial of admission or assistance or termination of assistance, the termination of assistance based on criminal activity, lease bifurcation, documentation requirements, and providing notice of the rights of individuals covered under the housing programs. In addition, HUD is required to adopt a model emergency transfer plan for public housing agencies and owners or managers of housing assisted under the covered housing programs. This plan must allow tenants who are victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking to transfer to another available and safe dwelling unit assisted under a covered housing program if the tenant expressly requests the transfer, and the tenant reasonably believes that the tenant is threatened with imminent harm from further violence if the tenant remains within the same dwelling unit. HUD must establish policies and procedures under which a victim requesting an emergency transfer may receive, subject to the availability of tenant protection vouchers, assistance under section 8(o) of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

Reverse Mortgage Stabilization Act of 2013 (Public Law 113-29 8/9/13)

This law provides for additional safety and soundness protections for HUD's Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) Insurance Program by authorizing HUD to establish, by notice or mortgagee letter, any additional or alternative requirements that the Secretary, in the Secretary's discretion, determines are necessary to improve the fiscal safety and soundness of the program authorized by section 255 of the National Housing Act, which requirements shall take effect upon issuance.'

Transportation, Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2014 (Public Law 113-76 1/17/14)

The FY14 Appropriations Act contained several changes to the United States Housing Act of 1937, affecting the public housing and voucher programs. Section 202 revised the flat rent amount in public housing to be no less than 80 percent of the area Fair Market Rent (FMR). PHAs have the option, in years when the FMR goes down, to decrease rents accordingly. If the new flat rent increases a family's rent payment by more than 35 percent, the rent increase must be phased in so that the increase is no more than 35 percent per year. Section 212 amended the definition of a PHA to include a consortium of such entities. Section 220 allowed PHAs to comply with the requirement to inspect assisted dwelling units during the term of a housing assistance payment (HAP) contract by conducting biennial housing quality inspections instead of annual inspections. PHAs are also able to utilize alternative inspection methods to demonstrate that housing meets the housing quality requirements under the voucher program. Section 238 created a statutory definition of "extremely low-income families," which is defined as very low-income families whose incomes do not exceed the higher of the Federal poverty level or 30 percent of Area Median Income. Section 242 established a cap on the utility allowance for families leasing oversized units. The cap is set at an amount based on family size rather than the size of the unit leased, with the ability to set a higher amount to provide a reasonable accommodation to the family of a person with disabilities, harmonizing the utility allowance standard with the payment standard requirement.

Section 239 also amended the Rental Assistance Demonstration (RAD) authority in the FY2012 appropriations act to extend the deadline for the second component conversions through December 31, 2014.

Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act of 2014 (Public Law 113-128 7/22/14)

This law overhauls various federal job training programs administered by agencies other than HUD, but it also makes several technical conforming changes to HUD statutes and contains a few provisions referencing HUD programs. Some of the job training programs were changed to adopt the definitions of "homeless children and youths" and "transitional housing" as established in the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act. Section 103 of the law permits each state to submit a combined plan for activities that join planning for a "core program" (i.e. some non-HUD program) and one or more other related activities, which could include employment or training activities conducted by HUD where a plan is required. Section 121 creates a series of one-stop delivery centers for programs such as HUD's employment and training activities. Section 169 provides that if the Department elects to exercise the option to write a report on training programs for recipients of public housing assistance, the preparation of the report must be coordinated with HUD. Section 171 of the law establishing the Youthbuild program adopts the United States Housing Act of 1937's income-related definitions. Finally, the law strikes references to the "Workforce Investment Act of 1998," which was repealed by the law, in the United States Housing Act of 1937, McKinney-Vento, and section 3 of the Housing and Urban

Major Legislation on Housing and Urban Development Enacted Since 1932

Development Act of 1968, and replaces these references with those to this law (the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act).

Transportation, Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2015 (Public Law 113-235 12/16/14)

The FY15 Appropriations Act amends section 24 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 by extending the HOPE VI Program through the end of FY 2015. The law extended the Multifamily Assisted Housing Reform and Affordability Act (MAHRAA) through the end of FY 2017. The act amends the public housing “flat rent” requirements of the 1937 Act to allow the Secretary to approve an alternative fair market rent that more accurately reflects local market conditions. Also, the appropriations act amends the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 to require section 184 lenders to consider loan modification before declaring default.

The Rental Assistance Demonstration (RAD) authority in the Department of Housing and Urban Development Appropriations Act, 2012, is amended to include under the first component of RAD, an increase in the cap of units converted under to 185,000 and an extension of the application period until September 30, 2018. The second component of RAD is amended to allow for conversions to long-term project-based subsidy contracts under section 8 and an extension of the deadline for such conversions.

Carl Levin and Howard P. “Buck” McKeon National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015 (Public Law 113-291 12/19/14)

This law provides, at section 1079, a pilot program to rehabilitate and modify homes of disabled and low-income veterans. The law directs the Secretary to establish a pilot program that awards grants to qualified organizations to rehabilitate and modify the primary residences of these eligible veterans. The grant amount cannot exceed $1,000,000 to any single qualified organization in a fiscal year. Moreover, a qualified organization receiving a grant is required to contribute towards the housing modifications and rehabilitation services provided in an amount equal to 50 percent of the grant award. A “low-income veteran” is defined by the program to include those veterans whose incomes do not exceed 80 percent of the median income for an area, as determined by the Secretary. A “qualified organization” is defined to include any nonprofit organization that provides nationwide or statewide programs that primarily serve veterans or low-income individuals.

Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014 (Public Law 113-295 12/19/14)

This law extends three tax provisions relevant to HUD. First, it extends the provision that prevents the amount of principal forgiven in a short sale or foreclosure from being counted as ordinary income through January 1, 2015. Second, it extends through January 1, 2015 the provision that allows borrowers to factor in their mortgage insurance premiums into their mortgage interest deductions. Third, it extends a provision that provides the minimum 9 percent credit to Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) projects allocated tax credits before January 1, 2015, but not necessarily placed in service. Otherwise, these LIHTC projects would receive a floating rate based on a formula that uses the federal cost of borrowing to establish the credit rate.

The Fixing America's Surface Transportation Act (FAST Act) (Public Law 114-94 12/4/15).

The FAST Act reauthorizes surface transportation funding for the next five years. Additionally, the FAST Act includes a number of HUD-related provisions. First, the act creates a Federal Permitting Improvement Steering Council, comprised of members from specified Executive branch agencies, including HUD, for the purpose of expediting required environmental decisions. The FAST Act also amends the Low-Income Housing Preservation and Resident Homeownership Act of 1990 to allow property owners to refinance properties and to distribute surplus cash and funds accumulated in a residual receipts account, under certain circumstances. Further, the act amends the public housing and Section 8 authorizing statute to no longer require annual reexaminations when at least 90 percent of the income of the family consists of "fixed income. The FAST Act also amends the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act by authorizing nonprofit organizations to administer permanent housing rental assistance, and by reducing the frequency of required reallocations of Emergency Solutions Grant assistance under the minimum allocation requirements. Further, the act directs the Secretary to establish a demonstration program to reduce energy and water costs through the execution of agreements with entities to carry out projects for energy or water conservation improvements in multifamily units.

Transportation, Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2016 (Public Law 114-113 12/18/15)

The FY16 Appropriations Act waives the 30-day waiting period for the termination or refusal to renew of a tenant in affordable housing when the grounds for such termination or refusal to renew involves a direct threat to the safety of the tenants or employees of the housing or an imminent and serious threat to the property. The Act permits exceptions for alternative water systems that meet State and local building codes that ensure health and safety standards.

The Act directs the Secretary to increase the number of MTW agencies by 100, adding public housing agencies designated as high performing agencies. The law also allows the Secretary to authorize the transfer of existing subsidies and liabilities from obsolete housing for person with disabilities to housing that complies with local Olmstead requirements

The authority for the Rental Assistance Demonstration is amended to make permanent the eligibility of owners of properties assisted under section 101 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965 (Rent Supplement), section 236(f)(2) of the National Housing Act (Rental Assistance Payments), or section 8(e)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (Moderate Rehabilitation), to convert to section 8 assistance under the second component of the demonstration.

Housing Opportunity Through Modernization Act of 2016 (HOTMA) (Public Law 114-201 7/29/16)

HOTMA amended many HUD programs, including public housing, FHA's insurance for condominiums, and the Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA) program. Some changes were relatively small, including changing the terminology used in the project-based voucher statute; and allowing public housing agencies and local redevelopment authorities to be eligible for Emergency Solution Grants.

A significant statutory change in HOTMA was to cap the incomes for families residing in public housing at 120 percent of area median income (AMI). If a family has that income level for two years, they must pay the fair market value for the unit or vacate the unit. HOTMA also allows PHAs to use 10 percent of their housing choice vouchers (above the 20 percent project-based voucher portfolio cap) for project-based vouchers for the homeless, veterans, the elderly, the disabled, or for units in areas where vouchers are difficult to use due to market conditions. HOTMA also increases the age limit for family unification program (FUP) vouchers from 18 to 24 and increases the time such vouchers are available from 18 to 36 months.

HOTMA requires FHA to streamline the project certification requirements applicable to mortgage insurance on condominium projects and provides for additional review or exception processes for requirements regarding the amount of space in a condominium property that may be used for nonresidential or commercial properties.

HOTMA further creates, in the Office of the Secretary, a Special Assistant for Veterans Affairs to coordinate all HUD programs and activities relating to veterans. HOTMA moves all responsibilities for veterans' programs under the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Special Needs to the new office.

HOTMA also amends the HOPWA distribution formula to better reflect the rise and redistribution of people living with HIV.

Transportation, Housing, and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2017 (Public Law 115-31 5/5/17)

The FY17 Appropriations Act amends the Rental Assistance Demonstration program by extending the authority for conversions under the First Component to September 30, 2020. The Act raises the cap for the number of public housing units eligible for conversion to 225,000.

The FY17 Act also expands the regulatory exemption of HUD's lead-based paint authority—for housing for the elderly or persons with disabilities—by lowering the age threshold from 7 to 6 years of age for children who reside in such units. While all 0-bedroom dwellings were previously exempted from HUD's lead-based paint regulatory authority, the FY17 Act expands coverage to include 0-bedroom dwelling units where children under age 6 reside or are expected to reside.

Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018 (Public Law 115-141 3/23/18)

The FY18 Appropriations Act amends the Rental Assistance Demonstration program by extending the authority for conversions under the First Component to September 30, 2024. The Act raises the cap for the number of public housing units eligible for conversion to 455,000. The Act also extends eligibility under the Second Component to those projects with a project rental assistance contract under section 202(c)(2) of the Housing Act of 1959.

Economic Growth, Regulatory Relief, and Consumer Protection Act (Public Law 115-174 5/24/18)

The Act streamlines HUD's administration of the family self-sufficiency (FSS) program by allowing participating PHAs to combine their public housing and Housing Choice Voucher FSS accounts, broadening the services that can be provided to FSS participants, and extending the program to tenants who live in privately-owned properties backed by project-based rental assistance.

The Act also streamlines requirements related to program inspections and evaluations, environmental reviews, and troubled property designations for small PHAs (those with no more than 550 vouchered units) in rural areas.

The Act reinstates the Protecting Tenants at Foreclosure Act. It also authorizes HUD to prescribe rules defining the type of loans HUD will insure, guarantee, or administer under the National Housing Act in order to address PACE loans, and it sets new requirements and limits on loans to veterans that are being refinanced. Finally, the Act authorizes the Department of Treasury to use loan guarantees and credit enhancements as part of the Hardest Hit Fund to remediate lead and asbestos hazards in residential properties.
