

Computer Matching Agreement Annual Activity Report

Name and Address of Reporting Agency

Data Integrity Board (DIB) Members

Data Integrity Board (DIB) Secretary

Data Integrity Board (DIB) Structure Changes

List of Computer Matching Programs

List of Computer Matching Programs (Continued)

Links to HUD Computer Matching Agreements

Accounting and Adherence

Unless otherwise noted in this report, the HUD DIB has no reason to believe that HUD and its components have not fully adhered to the terms of all approved matching agreements during this reporting period.

Continued Justification

The HUD DIB affirms that all disclosures of agency records for use in all approved matching programs continue to be justified.

Cost-Benefit Analysis

The HUD DIB is involved with all aspects of the Computer Matching Agreement (CMA) and Cost Benefit Analysis (CBA) approval process. The HUD DIB required a favorable cost-benefit ratio for all approved matches. Each matching agreement HUD participated in during the last year had a favorable cost-benefit ratio unless otherwise noted in this report.

Cost-Benefit Waivers

Violations