Background

On March 13, 2020, the President declared a National Emergency concerning the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic and initiated actions to stem the threat to public health and the American economy. On January 21, 2021, President Biden announced the “National Strategy for the COVID-19 Response and Pandemic Preparedness”. Many of these actions include the need to avoid contact with other people or to stay at home. Due to the restrictions imposed by the COVID-19 National Emergency and in compliance with State and Local government directives many businesses throughout the country had to reduce the scope of their operations or completely close their doors. Mortgagees are therefore experiencing an additional layer of challenge as they attempt to determine income stability for self-employed Borrowers and for Borrowers who rely on receipt of rental income. In recognition of these and other challenges that Mortgagees are experiencing during these unprecedented times, FHA is temporarily updating its income requirements for self-employed Borrowers and Borrowers who rely on the receipt of rental income to qualify for an FHA-insured mortgage. Additionally, FHA is clarifying its guidance for servicing the 203(k) Rehabilitation Escrow Account for Borrowers who are in a COVID-19 related mortgage payment forbearance. The extension of these temporary measures is expected to mitigate or offset potential risk of default that results in a claim against the MMIF while maintaining FHA’s countercyclical role in the market.
