GREETINGS FROM ADMINISTRATOR

Greetings,

Hurricane & Storm damage: Hurricane Henri' and Hurricane Ida recently passed through the Eastern Woodlands area. One sweeping up the East Coast and Ida landing in New Orleans but affecting Mississippi and Alabama hitting three of our grantees. Ida then through Tennessee brushing NC up through Pennsylvania and New Jersey and New York finishing with heavy rains in New England. Checks with various grantees in the path were fortunate to discover minimal damage in the path of the storm.

Of course, ONAP regularly designates about $4 million dollars for the ICDBG Imminent Threat grants per year to ameliorate the effects of storms and prevent further damage in the future. This money is granted on a first come, first served basis and is for grantees nationwide, not just in the Eastern Woodlands region. ONAP cannot predict where or when a disaster may strike, which is why it could be used up early or have some to roll over into the next fiscal year. This year it looks like all the grant money will be utilized. A disaster can be any number of things, coastal flooding, hurricanes, tornadoes, earthquake damage, forest fires, floods, straight line winds call derechos, Only Federally recognized tribes are eligible for these grants.

The normal limit on ICDBG-IT grants is $400,000 but can double to $900,000 if the damage is in a Presidentially declared disaster area. To be eligible for an ICDBG-IT grant, damage must be to HUD built or assisted units and must wide spread which in essence means damage to four units or more. Also, the grantee must not have any other resource from the Tribe or otherwise to address the concern. These grants must be used to address the damage that occurred and can't be used to address privately, or tribally owned homes or facilities not affected by the weather or disaster. Click here to read ICDBG-IT eligibility guidance.

Additional assistance for disasters can come from individual States who have an obligation to provide for the public safety of their citizens. While money may be limited, HUD regularly funds Disaster Relief funds to the States to administer to individuals and local units of government including State recognized Tribes. FEMA is a further resource that provides immediate supplies such as water, food and shelter when power is knocked out and people may not have the ability to return to flooded or damaged homes. The American Red Cross also provides disaster relief to individual citizens in coordination with FEMA, which stands for the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Labor Day. The first Monday in September is the Labor Day Holiday. This year it falls on September 6th. We ask you to be safe and follow CDC guidelines when traveling this holiday. For those staying at home remember and celebrate all the essential workers who remained working during the pandemic at much risk to themselves. Those include the men and women who keep Indian Housing running on a day today basis. Remember to give thanks for their dedication to help house Tribal members. ONAP recognizes that it takes a team from the Tribal Council to the maintenance worker cutting grass in the summer or removing snow in the winter to make a house more than building, but rather a community. So, take the time to recognize your staff and remind them of the importance of their work.

Respectfully,

Mark Butterfield, EWONAP Administrator

HIGHLIGHT ON EWONAP TRIBE: LUMBEE TRIBE OF NORTH CAROLINA

Leon Jacobs Recognized for Role in Housing Funding

The Lumbee Tribe of N.C. recently recognized Leon Jacobs with a proclamation and beaded Eagle Feather, for his integral role in paving the way for the Lumbee Tribe of N.C. to receive NAHASDA Funding for its tribal members. Jacobs served as Director of the Office of Native American Programs for HUD's Eastern Woodland's Office for 14 years. While in that role, Jacobs advocated for state recognized tribes in N.C. to receive NAHASDA Housing Funds.

The proclamation was presented at the Lumbee State of the Tribe Address. Lumbee Tribal Chairman Harvey Godwin, Jr. personally thanked Jacobs for his guidance, vision and advice to him during his time as tribal chairman. Godwin said what Jacobs did for the Lumbee People is immeasurable. "I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart, on behalf of the Lumbee People for everything that you have done," said Godwin. "There are many families that have had housing problems in the past and you have helped thousands and thousands of Lumbee People to have safe, affordable, clean housing. God bless you and thank you for that."

Leon Jacobs went on to work with several tribes around the nation including serving as Tribal Administrator for the Lumbee Tribe in 2004. The proclamation pays homage to his role to support Native People. During Jacobs' time as HUD's Director of the Office of Native American Programs for 14 years, he directed service provision to more than 100 Tribal Nations over a 28-state area. Jacobs said he was honored. "I am very happy that God placed me in positions over the years that could bring some type of comfort and programs to my own tribe," Jacobs said.
