FHA Releases Final Webinar in Dispelling Homebuying Myths Series: Tips for Buying Your First Home

Today, the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) is launching Dispelling Homebuying Myths: Tips for Buying Your First Home, the final webinar in its four-part series. The webinar series reveals the truth about common myths associated with using an FHA-insured loan to purchase a home and is available on the Single Family Housing Events and Training webpage on HUD.gov.

In addition to providing a resource to prospective homebuyers, this webinar may be useful for loan originators, real estate professionals, and others interested in learning more about FHA-insured loans and misconceptions in the homebuying process.

Additional topics previously released in the series include Qualifying for a Loan, Affording a Home, and Finding the Right Home. As we close out National Homeownership Month, FHA remains committed to expanding equitable access to homeownership in communities across the nation all year long.
