HUD Secretary-Designate Marcia L. Fudge Testifies at Senate Nomination Hearing

Rep. Marcia L. Fudge (D-Ohio) appeared remotely before the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs for her confirmation hearing Thursday, January 28, 2021. If confirmed as secretary of Housing and Urban Development, she will confront the immediate challenge of keeping millions of Americans from losing their homes amid the coronavirus pandemic, while also ending discriminatory housing policies as part of President Biden’s push to dismantle systemic racism.

First elected in 2008, she represents the people of the 11th Congressional District of Ohio. She serves on the Committee on House Administration, House Committee on Agriculture and House Committee on Education and Labor. She is the Chair of the Committee on House Administration Subcommittee on Elections and Chair of the Committee on Agriculture Subcommittee on Nutrition, Oversight and Department Operations. She serves on the Subcommittees on Conservation and Forestry (Agriculture), Civil Rights and Human Services (Education & Labor) and Health, Employment, Labor and Pensions (Education & Labor).

She has served the people of Ohio for more than three decades, beginning with the Cuyahoga County Prosecutor’s Office. She was later elected as the first African American and first female mayor of Warrensville Heights, Ohio, where she led the city in shoring up a sagging retail base and providing new residential construction.

She earned her bachelor’s degree in business from The Ohio State University and law degree from the Cleveland State University Cleveland-Marshall School of Law. She is a Past National President of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., and a member of its Greater Cleveland Alumnae Chapter. Click here for full bio.

A New Administration

Jenn Jones, Chief of Staff

“I am deeply humbled to begin my service as your Chief of Staff. I am hopeful that the HUD Secretary-designate will have an uneventful and speedy confirmation and I am ready to work with you to rebuild the department and to increase equitable access to housing for millions of families.

In the spirit of over-communicating, I am providing the names of the career and political employees who will be leading the agency, some in temporary positions, as we move forward with building the leadership team over the coming weeks. You will recognize some of the team from their previous service at HUD, and others are new to HUD. I know you will welcome them as you welcomed me 12 years ago.”

HUD Announces Millions in Rental and Housing Assistance for Veterans In Need

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) announced it is awarding $46 million in rental assistance and housing vouchers to help veterans at risk of experiencing homelessness. The supportive housing assistance is provided through the HUD-Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing (HUD-VASH) Program, which combines rental assistance from HUD with case management and clinical services provided by the VA.

A component of the Housing Choice Voucher (HCV) program, the HUD-VASH vouchers being awarded today enable homeless veterans to obtain affordable, decent housing in the private market. These vouchers are critical tools in helping communities effectively end homelessness among veterans.

In the HUD-VASH program, VA Medical Centers (VAMCs) assess veterans experiencing homelessness before referring them to local housing agencies for these vouchers. Decisions are based on a variety of factors, most importantly the duration of homelessness and the need for longer term, more intensive support in obtaining and maintaining permanent housing. The HUD-VASH program includes both the rental assistance the voucher provides and the comprehensive case management that VAMC staff offers.

Veterans participating in the HUD-VASH program rent privately owned housing and generally contribute no more than 30 percent of their income toward rent. VA offers eligible homeless veterans clinical and supportive services through its medical centers across the U.S., Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Click here to read the press release.

FHA Provides Borrowers Additional Time For Forbearance Plans

WASHINGTON – The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) announced it will execute the Biden Administration’s request to extend the deadline for borrowers with FHA-insured mortgages who are struggling financially due to COVID-19 to request and receive mortgage payment forbearance from their mortgage servicer. The new deadline is June 30, 2021, allowing borrowers additional time to request and obtain up to six months of an initial pause in their mortgage payments.

“The first day of his new Administration, President Biden took immediate actions to stem the economic devastation experienced by the nation’s hardworking families because of the pandemic,” said Acting HUD Secretary Matthew Ammon. “Today’s extension supports the President’s direction by providing more time for homeowners to seek mortgage payment relief.”

FHA requires mortgage servicers to provide up to six months of COVID-19 forbearance when a borrower requests this assistance, and up to an additional six months of COVID-19 forbearance for borrowers who request an extension of the initial forbearance. Borrowers needing assistance must engage with their servicer – the entity to which they make their mortgage payments – to obtain an initial COVID-19 forbearance on or before June 30, 2021.

The forbearance request extension aligns with FHA’s recent extension of its foreclosure and eviction moratoria for single family homeowners with FHA-insured mortgages, also extended through June 30, 2021. The extension of the moratoria on foreclosures and evictions was announced on January 21, 2021 and implemented President Biden’s January 20 “Day One” request for this action. Both measures are vital first steps to provide urgent relief to safeguard those struggling with financial and home uncertainty.

FHA encourages borrowers with FHA-insured mortgages who can make their mortgage payments to continue to do so. Borrowers seeking additional information on available options should click here to visit FHA’s COVID-19 Resources for Homeowners web page on FHA.gov. Other borrowers are encouraged to visit the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau’s Coronavirus Mortgage and Housing Assistance web pages by clicking here. The Multifamily COVID-19 Resources page can be found by clicking here.
WASHINGTON - U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Former Secretary Ben Carson introduced the Find Shelter tool, a new resource developed by the Department to help individuals and families in need to locate nearby resources. Specifically, users can search for facilities that provide shelter, clothing, health clinics, and food pantries to those in need. Find Shelter provides mapping and contact information for these service providers and the site is optimized for mobile use.

“The Find Shelter website is another tool with which we can relieve homelessness and provide people with the resources they need,” said Carson. “Particularly as we continue to recover from the coronavirus pandemic, it’s important to make sure individuals and families know where to go to get help.”

The tool is designed to help community members serve their neighbors in need. Particularly during the coronavirus pandemic there has been a surge in Neighbors Helping Neighbors across the country, which has been an important force in serving vulnerable Americans. The Find Shelter tool will only bolster this effort get people the help they need. The site includes downloadable, printable posters and palm cards that can be displayed near public computers for individuals and families looking to locate resources.

Research from HUD indicates that in 2019, most of the country experienced a combined decrease in homelessness, with the exception of significant increases in unsheltered and chronic homelessness on the West Coast, particularly in California and Oregon, offset those nationwide decreases, causing an overall increase in homelessness of 2.7 percent.

HUD’s 2019 Annual Homeless Assessment Report to Congress found that 567,715 persons experienced homelessness on a single night in 2019, an increase of 2.7 percent since 2018, but a nearly 11 percent decline since 2010. The number of families with children experiencing homelessness declined 5 percent from 2018 and more than 32 percent since 2010. Local communities also reported a continuing trend in reducing veteran homelessness across the country—the number of veterans experiencing homelessness fell 2.1 percent since January 2018 and by 50 percent since 2010.

CDC Orders to Temporarily Halt Residential Evictions

On January 29, 2021, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) issued an Order extending the eviction moratorium to March 31, 2021. The Order continues to ban evictions for certain renters under Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. § 264) and 42 CFR § 70.2. As described in the Order, tenants qualifying as a “Covered Person” cannot be evicted for nonpayment of rent when a declaration under the penalty of perjury is provided to their landlord. Residents who previously submitted a declaration should not be asked to resubmit and should have continued protections until March 31, 2021.

Much of the content of the September 4, 2020 original Order has been incorporated into the updated Order. In addition to extending the effective period date, the updated Order also includes newly available modeling projections and observational data from COVID-19 incidence comparisons across states that have implemented and lifted eviction moratoria, which demonstrates the ongoing public health rationale for the extension. The Order now applies to American Samoa because cases of COVID-19 have now been reported there.

The Order does not relieve the tenants’ obligation to pay rent, and tenants must continue to comply with terms under the lease. Nothing in the updated Order precludes the landlords from charging or collecting fees, penalties, or interest as a result of the tenants’ inability to pay rent on a timely basis. Evictions unrelated to nonpayment of rent can still take place. Any State, local, Tribal, or territorial area with a moratorium on residential evictions that provides the same or greater level of public health protection can supersede the updated CDC Order. To the extent any provision of the Order conflicts with prior Orders, the updated Order is controlling.
WASHINGTON - The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) awarded $2.5 billion to renew support to thousands of local homeless assistance programs across the nation. HUD’s Continuum of Care (CoC) grants will provide critically needed support to 6,597 local programs on the front lines of serving individuals and families experiencing homelessness. See local impact of funding below.

Due to the pandemic, the funding announced today renews grants for existing programs. This process was dramatically streamlined because communities have been and will continue to be consumed with COVID-19 response and have limited capacity to participate in the traditional CoC competition.

“HUD wants to ensure that thousands of local homeless assistance providers continue to receive federal funds needed to provide stable housing for people experiencing homelessness during these trying times,” said Acting HUD Secretary Matt Ammon. “Renewing these grants not only offers relief to our local partners but it allows Continuums of Care to continue their work to end homelessness and help keep our most vulnerable neighbors off the streets.”

“We are excited about the opportunity to provide funding without diverting the attention of communities from the vital work of preventing, preparing for, and responding to the pandemic,” said James Arthur Jemison, Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development.

HUD’s Continuum of Care grant funding supports a broad array of interventions designed to assist individuals and families experiencing homelessness, particularly those living in places not meant for habitation, located in sheltering programs, or at imminent risk of experiencing homelessness. Each year, HUD serves more than a million people through emergency shelter, transitional, and permanent housing programs. Acting HUD Secretary Statement on President Biden’s Executive Order Redressing Discriminatory Housing Practices and Policies

“President Biden’s executive order is a vital step toward redressing the federal government’s legacy of housing discrimination and securing equal access to housing opportunity for all,” said Acting HUD Secretary Matthew E. Ammon.

“Racially discriminatory housing practices and policies have kept communities of color from accessing safe, high-quality housing and the chance to build wealth that comes through homeownership. To this day, people of color disproportionately bear the burdens of homelessness, pollution, climate-related housing instability, and economic inequality because of deliberate and systemic efforts to deny them fair and equal access to housing opportunity.

“Only by recognizing and acknowledging our nation's history of housing discrimination can we begin to lift the barriers to safe, accessible, and affordable housing. With this executive order, President Biden is taking meaningful action to advance racial equity in housing and expand opportunity for all. HUD looks forward to working closely with the President and his administration to expand equitable access to housing for millions of Americans.”
Hope is returning to Liberty Square, one apartment and one block at a time. Located in the heart of Miami, the much-needed transformation of one of the nation’s oldest public housing developments took another giant step when Justin Myers and his sisters moved into Liberty Square. The siblings received not only their keys, but also supportive services after their mother, who was at the top of the waiting list to come back after the redevelopment, recently passed away. The transformation of the 1937 housing development began five years ago and showed its first results in July 2019 with the opening of Phase I. Former Secretary Carson and Region 4, Former Regional Administrator Denise Cleveland-Leggett attended the event. At the end of October 2020, Cleveland-Leggett returned with HUD’s Director of Field Operations, Christopher Taylor to join the opening celebration of Phase II. “HUD funding is an investment in the people we serve, not just in affordable housing or community development,” said Cleveland-Leggett. She congratulated small-business owner Leighton Brown. “Mr. Brown and his company of more than 40 employees are part of this new chapter of hope and opportunity,” she added. Cleveland-Leggett also highlighted how LCN Group, a minority-owned business, was hired as a subcontractor and is an example of Section 3 at work.

The Miami-Dade Dept. of Public Housing and Community Development Director Michael Liu hosted the event. U.S. Representative Mario Diaz-Balart, Miami-Dade County Mayor Carlos Giménez, County Commission Chairwoman Audrey Edmonson, State Attorney Katherine Fernandez Rundle, Related Group Chairman Jorge Pérez and Related Urban Development Group President Albert Milo attended. The attendees expressed how pleased they were with this transformation and the positive impact of the renovated area on the wellbeing of the residents.

Federal Agencies to Launch Joint Regional Lead Task Force

HUD Region 4, Former Regional Administrator Denise Cleveland-Leggett kicked off the formation of a new lead task force. During a November 12 virtual summit, she was joined by principals and participants from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) as they explored a wide range of potential activities to combat lead exposure.

HUD summit leadership participants were: EPA Acting Director of HUD’s Office of Lead Hazard Control and Healthy Homes (OLHCHH) Michelle Miller and Joseph Phillips, HUD Region IV Public Affairs. HUD’s Shea Johnson, Director of Georgia Operations, helped to plan and facilitated the summit.

The key result of the summit was an agreement to establish the regional Federal Lead Task Force. The development of this new task force strongly supports the Federal Lead Action Plan to Reduce Childhood Lead Exposures and Associated Health Impacts (FLAP). The FLAP helps federal agencies work strategically and collaboratively to reduce exposure to lead and to improve children’s health.

Two summit highlights were identifying the need for increased data sharing and for expanded use of HUD Lead Hazard Control Grants in the region. The overarching theme that emerged was the importance of cross-agency partnerships as well as those involving other stakeholders. OLHCHH’s Michelle Miller emphasized the importance of finding committed champions, such as the Pediatric Environmental Health Specialty Units and USDA Extension’s Healthy Homes Partners. HUD Region 4, Former Regional Administrator Denise Cleveland-Leggett announced virtually during a ribbon cutting ceremony the designation of the new Huntsville EnVision Center, located in the Calvary Hills Center. The Huntsville EnVision Center is the second Center in the State of Alabama.

The EnVision Center sits in the heart of the Northwood Community, the largest public housing development within the Huntsville Housing Authority, providing residents and the surrounding community with self-sufficiency services.

“City of Huntsville, Huntsville Housing Authority and partners can be proud of its national designation and recognition as a HUD EnVision Center,” said Cleveland-Leggett. “EnVision Centers were created with a simple goal in mind – to empower people to reach their greatest potential by helping them become self-sufficient. These Centers take a holistic approach to community revitalization, going beyond brick and mortar investments and investing in what matters most – people.”

Ken Free, HUD Alabama Field Office Director participated in the ribbon cutting ceremony with representatives from the City of Huntsville, Huntsville Housing Authority and partners.

The Huntsville EnVision Center is the seventeenth Center designated by HUD in the Southeast Region following the designation of the Birmingham Hope Center in November 2019.

Hope Center EnVision Center Helps Homeless in Lexington

The Hope Center EnVision Center announced the restart of its Street Outreach Team that consists of Dustin Louthen and Jason DeZarn, who both came through the Hope Center Recovery Program. Upon completion, they began peer mentoring other men entering the program. Dustin and Jason will now visit known camps and follow up on referrals from the Lexington Police, the Office of Homelessness Prevention and Intervention, Lexington Parks and Recreation, and other community members. They will provide referrals and transportation to shelter; distribute supplies of food, water and blankets; and connect people with other resources, such as medical care and mental health services.

The Hope Center is partnering with the Office of Homelessness Prevention and Intervention, Community Action Council and New Vista to provide necessary resources and encourage people to shelter as safely as possible from the cold temperatures and the COVID-19 epidemic.

“The Hope Center EnVision Center epitomizes HUD Secretary Ben Carson’s vision for centers of hope and opportunity to facilitate and bring together much needed resources to address the unique needs of their communities,” said Denise Cleveland-Leggett, HUD Region 4, Former Regional Administrator.

During colder months, it will be even more important to encourage those without a home to come inside – especially when the temperatures can be life threatening. The Hope Center’s services, such as its HopeMobile and Street Outreach, will be lifesaving by building communications to those staying on the streets. If you see someone in need in Lexington, you can leave a message with the referral line at 859-252-7881 or email dshadd@hopectr.org.

HUD Former Secretary Ben Carson Announces Grant to the Global Forum for Freedom and Justice

BIRMINGHAM, AL—U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary Ben Carson announced a $2.9 million dollar grant to the Global Forum for Freedom and Justice to conduct a feasibility study to determine the best location in Birmingham, Alabama to construct the “international gathering place focused on leadership, education, innovation and understanding, placed upon the sacred soil that gave rise to the modern Civil Rights Movement.”

“In today’s world, when we aren’t leaving home as often, efforts such as these to address the needs of communities in a virtual way are all the more critical,” said HUD Former Secretary Ben Carson. “As our society transitions to rely on more virtual resources, this sort of public-private partnership is crucial in making true progress. This grant will help empower individuals with technological and leadership skills to prepare them to thrive in the modern era.”

The Global Forum for Freedom and Justice will be a groundbreaking institution in downtown Birmingham, which links the cultural anchors and legacies of the city’s renowned civil rights history with exploring contemporary issues that exist today — while activating and inspiring emerging leaders from around the world.

The Forum will serve as a dynamic resource and creative hub, offering grants for institutions as well as individual research fellowships, residencies, and scholarships for outstanding candidates in the arts and humanities, science and technology, law and public policy, medicine, public health, entrepreneurship, education, military, athletics, and in the faith community, while encouraging greater outreach and dialogue with the judicial and

Region IV 2020 Homeless Virtual Conference Is Overwhelming Success

Region IV brought together a record number of attendees from throughout the Southeast at the 2020 Homelessness Virtual Conference.

“The extraordinary interest and importance of reducing and ending homelessness is evident in the unprecedented turnout of over 1,150 attendees to the virtual regional conference,” said Region 4, Former Regional Administrator Denise Cleveland-Leggett. “It is imperative that we continue to collectively work together to eliminate homelessness for those we mutually serve so they may have hope of a brighter and more fulfilling future.”

Montgomery Housing Authority Awarded Choice Neighborhood Planning Grant

Alabama Field Office Director Kenneth Free presented the Montgomery Housing Authority a HUD Choice Neighborhood Planning grant ceremonial check in the amount of $450,000. The award was one of 11 issued nationwide totaling $4.9 million through HUD’s Choice Neighborhoods Initiative that helps local leaders craft comprehensive, homegrown plans to revitalize and transform neighborhoods across the country. The grant will help assist the housing authority to plan and promote affordable housing and economic development in the distressed neighborhoods of Paterson Court and the entire Centennial Hill community.

“We are excited to see the transformation coming to the Centennial Hill neighborhood and Paterson Court because of the commitment HUD and its partners have made to the community with this grant,” said Field Office Director Kenneth Free.

Centennial Hill has been in decline since the 1960s, and within the neighborhood is Paterson Court, a 200-unit public housing development constructed more than 70 years ago and has not received any comprehensive rehabilitation or modernization in more than 30 years. The current poverty rate in Centennial Hill is 74% and portions of the neighborhood have been designated by the USDA as a food desert.

Choice Neighborhoods is HUD’s signature place-based initiative. Its vision builds on the work that has been done since 2009 by the Neighborhood Revitalization Initiative, an interagency partnership between HUD, Treasury and the Departments of Education, Health and Human Services and Justice.
U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Region 4, Former Regional Administrator Denise Cleveland-Leggett announced the designation of a new EnVision Center in Puerto Rico. Fundación Unidos para Servir (United to Serve, FUPSER) in the area of Manatí, manages two facilities at former elementary schools in the Boquillas and Tierras Nuevas neighborhoods. In collaboration with the local municipality, these schools have been transformed into resilient community centers with solar panels and water cisterns, medical and basic supply distribution centers; and permanent emergency shelters.

The EnVision Center offers, among other services, workshops to low-income residents on financial literacy, job seeking skills and entrepreneurship. Also, in partnership with the University of Puerto Rico, provides a business incubator and educational advancement for academic degrees and job training to set the participants on their path to economic independence. Character and leadership development are facilitated by supporting Boys and Girls Scout troops and activities with the Municipal Recreation Department. In terms of health and wellness, families benefit from access to a social worker and counseling support. Bedridden adults are provided with medical equipment and supplies.

"EnVision Centers are our way of bringing hope and opportunity in collaboration with our key partners to communities," said Cleveland-Leggett. "They serve as a springboard to self-sufficiency and success for thousands of families across the nation. This is why FUPSER, the municipality of Manatí and local partners can be proud of its national designation and recognition as a HUD EnVision Center."

"At Fundación Unidos para Servir we are very proud to be designated as an EnVision Center," said Father Carlos E. Granados-Penagos, Board President of FUPSER. "There is a lot to be done, but we are doing it and this important designation validates our determination and commitment to serve others. It is a new door that opens to expand our relationships with other government and non-profit organizations, receive resources and increase capacity-building experiences that will facilitate the path to maximize our services for the benefit of our communities, and therefore our island, Puerto Rico."

Under the leadership of Father Granados-Penagos, FUPSER service area expands beyond Manatí to the municipalities of Barceloneta, Ciales, and Vega Baja in the north central coastal section of Puerto Rico. The EnVision Center designation took place on December 22, 2020 and makes FUPSER the second such center in Puerto Rico, following the designation of Centros Sor Isolina Ferré in December 2019.

Updated RAD Rents Now Available

HUD has posted the 2020 RAD Contract Rents, which are used to determine the initial contract rents in the Section 8 Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) contract for public housing properties converting under RAD. HUD will utilize these amounts for any new awards starting January 1, 2021. In addition, current awardees that have not yet closed may request to update rents in their existing Commitments to enter into HAP (CHAPs) by contacting their assigned Transaction Manager, Closing Coordinator via email at: resourcesdesk@RADresource.net.

RAD Rents are re-established every two years based on public housing Congressional appropriations levels. We strongly recommend that PHAs review these 2020 RAD rents to evaluate whether these new levels best position properties for long-term preservation.

Multifamily Housing has posted an updated Policy Quick Reference Guide for Multifamily Housing Requirements to the DOC LIBRARY in the RAD for Multifamily section of the RAD Resource webpage. It can be accessed by clicking here.

This Policy Quick Reference Guide should be used alongside both the upcoming RAD Systems Procedure Guide and the Rental Assistance Demonstration – Final Implementation, Revision 4 Notice H 2019-09, PIH 2019-23 (HA). It provides guidance for occupancy related policy to owners (including Public Housing Agencies) converting their projects to Section 8 Project-Based Rental Assistance (PBRA) authorized under the Rental Assistance Demonstration (RAD).

This guide applies only to conversions of public housing, Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation (Mod Rehab), Rent Supplement, Rental Assistance Payment (RAP), and Section 202 PRAC assistance to PBRA. It does not apply to RAD conversions of assistance to Project Based Voucher (PBV) assistance.
