FOREWORD

The purpose of the Departmental Correspondence Handbook is to provide specific guidelines to: (1) assist in responding as quickly and efficiently as possible to correspondence that the Department of Housing and Urban Development receives from a variety of federal, state, and local government officials and other parties, including private citizens; and (2) assist in preparing memoranda and other internal correspondence.

Being responsive to the needs of correspondence received from the outside is central to the Department's mission, and those responses must be timely and in plain English. All employees are required to use this handbook in the preparation of correspondence, both in responding to external correspondence and in drafting internal correspondence.

By following the guidance outlined in this handbook, the correspondence process will be expedited. Suggestions on improvement of the process are welcome and may be submitted via the Executive Secretariat website, http://hudatwork.hud.gov/po/es/, for consideration.

CHAPTER I. PREPARING CORRESPONDENCE

1-1 Purpose.

This chapter contains information on departmental policy and standards for how letters and memorandums -- including general, secretarial, White House, and congressional correspondence -- are prepared.

A. For details on preparing letters, see Chapter II.
B. For details on preparing memorandums, see Chapter III.
C. For details on preparing secretarial correspondence (other than congressional correspondence), see Chapter IV.
D. For details on preparing White House correspondence, see Chapter V.
E. For details on preparing congressional correspondence, see Chapter VI.

1-2 Use.

Use of this handbook is mandatory departmentwide. All prior versions are obsolete.

A. This handbook presents departmental policies and procedures for preparing correspondence. Correspondence may not be prepared contrary to the procedures set forth herein.

The originator and concurring/reviewing officials of correspondence may not impose their personal style preferences over the handbook standards nor return correspondence for retyping to reflect personal preferences.

1-3 Policies for Originators.

A. Answer informally as much incoming correspondence as possible. Use the telephone or email to save time and reduce the document preparation workload. Keep telephone calls and emails short, courteous, and to the point.

Note: Do not use the telephone or email to answer incoming correspondence that: (a) would affect proposed or existing HUD policies, (b) must be reviewed by, or coordinated with, other offices, or (c) when office protocol requires the preparation of a more formal response.

B. Form Letter. Develop and use form letters to respond to requests for publications, blank forms, or other printed material when the same information is frequently requested. (See Exhibit 1-1 for sample form letter.)
C. If the information requested is available on the Internet, refer the customer to the website. Send only hud.gov website links or other public website addresses. When referring to a website address in the body of a letter or email response, underline the website address. Do not set the address out in any other way; for example, in boldface or in parentheses.

D. Types of Responses to Controlled Correspondence.

1. Acknowledgment Letter: Lets the sender know that their letter was received and will be answered soon. Prepare an acknowledgment when no information can be obtained by the deadline.

2. Interim Letter: A partial response prepared when some, but not all, of the information is available by the deadline.

3. Final Letter: A full response, or the final response following an interim letter.

E. Multiple Addressees.

Prepare letters using one of the following:

1. An original for each addressee;

2. In response to incoming correspondence with multiple signatures, a single reply addressed to the first person who signed the letter. In the first paragraph, state that the reply is also intended for the other addressees; or

3. In response to petitions or resolutions, a single reply addressed to the person who submitted the petition or resolution, or to the first person who signed it. In the body of the letter, mention the other addressees as a group.

F. Congressional Correspondence.

1. Congressional Constituent Correspondence. When a constituent writes to HUD as well as to a Member of Congress on the same subject, and the Member refers their letter to HUD:

   a. Ensure that the responses to the constituent and to the Member of Congress convey the same information;

   b. Reference the constituent’s letter to HUD in the response to the Member of Congress; and

   c. Do not reference the correspondence that was forwarded by the Member of Congress in the response to the constituent.
2. Congressional Correspondence With Multiple Addressees.

   a. When initiating a letter to more than one Member of Congress, prepare an original for each addressee.

   b. When responding to an incoming letter signed by more than one Member of Congress, prepare an original of the response, addressed individually, to each Member.

G. Opening Text of Letters. Opening sentences influence the tone of correspondence, which should display a courteous attitude and attempt to establish rapport with the recipient of the correspondence.

   Good examples of frequently used opening text are provided below.

   1. “Thank you for your letter of [date], [concerning…]; [expressing…]; [supporting…]; [on behalf of…].” The date of the incoming letter should be included in the opening sentence to establish clear timelines.

   2. For undated correspondence, use “Thank you for your letter, which was received on [date], [concerning…]; [expressing…]; [supporting…]; [on behalf of…].”

   3. “This is in further response to your letter of [date], [concerning…]; [expressing…]; [supporting…]; [on behalf of…].”

   4. For correspondence addressed to the Secretary or Deputy Secretary and referred for direct reply, use: “On behalf of [Secretary] [Deputy Secretary] [last name], thank you for your letter of [date], [concerning…]; [expressing…]; [supporting…]; [on behalf of…].”

   5. For White House correspondence, see Chapter V for opening text examples.

   6. For correspondence addressed to the Secretary or Deputy Secretary and controlled for the signature of the Assistant Secretary for Congressional and Intergovernmental Relations, use: “On behalf of [Secretary] [Deputy Secretary] [last name], thank you for your letter of [date], [concerning…]; [expressing…]; [supporting…]; [on behalf of…].”

   7. When a member of Congress requests that HUD reply directly to the constituent use: “[Senator] [Representative] [full name] has asked the Department of Housing and Urban Development to reply to your letter of [date], [concerning…]; [expressing…]; [supporting…]; [on behalf of…].”

H. Plural Pronouns. Use “the Department” or “HUD” instead of “we,” “our,” or “us.” (e.g., “The Department has intensified its focus on monitoring and program compliance.” instead of “We have intensified our focus on monitoring and program compliance.”)

I. Abbreviations/Acronyms. Abbreviations and acronyms are good shorthand devices; however, avoid overusing them. An abbreviation or acronym must be spelled out the first time it is used (e.g., Office of Management and Budget (OMB)).

Exception: Never put the acronym HUD in parentheses after referring to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The use of HUD, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or the Department is appropriate throughout the letter.

J. Correspondence More Than 60 Days Old. If the correspondence is more than 60 days old, do not refer to it as a “recent letter.” Instead, use “letter.”

K. Gender-Biased Language. Avoid using gender-biased language. Use the gender-neutral references “one,” “person,” “individual,” or the plural “their” in place of gender specific nouns and pronouns when making a general reference.

L. Enclosures. In the text of letters, identify any accompanying material as an enclosure. Multiple enclosures should be tabbed for easy reference. An enclosure too bulky to accompany the letter may be sent as a separate package. State in the text that it is being sent under separate cover.

M. Attachments. In the text of memorandums, identify any accompanying material as an attachment. Multiple attachments should be tabbed for easy reference.

N. Closing Text of Letters. Closing sentences are influential in establishing good rapport. Good examples of frequently used closing text are provided below.

1. “Thank you for your interest in the Department’s programs.”
2. “I hope the information provided is helpful.”
3. “I appreciate your interest in (name of program).”
4. “I hope this information is helpful in responding to your constituent.” (for congressional correspondence)
5. When appropriate, in the last paragraph, include the name, area code, telephone number, and extension, as well as the email address, of someone who can answer questions about the content. Note: Do not identify program staff as the point of contact in congressional letters signed by Office of Congressional and Intergovernmental Relations officials.

O. Content. Outgoing correspondence must:
1. Ensure that the concerns expressed in the incoming correspondence are thoroughly addressed and that questions are adequately answered;

2. Be concise and to the point;

3. Be written in plain English, not technical jargon;

4. Accurately state the Department’s policies;

5. Give a good impression of HUD;

6. Present negative information in a tactful way; and

7. Be error free.

1-4 Control of Correspondence.

The Department uses an official correspondence tracking system (CTS) to control all correspondence. HUD staff in each program and field office must use CTS to document the status of controlled correspondence in their office.

A. Correspondence Unit Chiefs/Points of Contact. Each HUD Headquarters program office, and regional and field office, must have a designated correspondence unit chief or a point of contact for correspondence matters.

B. CTS Control. The CTS control is an official record that:

1. Establishes the information and/or action needed to appropriately manage incoming correspondence; and

2. Documents correspondence and actions initiated within departmental offices.

C. Freedom of Information Act and Privacy Act. Special requirements apply for responding to Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests and Privacy Act requests. All FOIA requests received in Headquarters must be forwarded immediately to the FOIA division in the Executive Secretariat for appropriate handling. FOIA requests received in a regional or field office must be forwarded immediately to the regional or field office FOIA Liaison for appropriate handling.

All Privacy Act requests received by the Department, including requests seeking information contained in personnel records, must be forwarded immediately to the Department’s Privacy Act Officer for appropriate handling. All Privacy Act requests received in a regional or field office must be forwarded immediately to the regional or field office Privacy Act Officer for appropriate handling.
Questions. If this handbook does not answer your questions, contact your program office’s correspondence unit or point of contact for correspondence. The correspondence unit or point of contact for correspondence will contact the Executive Secretariat if they cannot answer your questions.

Follow concurrence, clearance, and dispatch procedures used by your program office’s correspondence unit or point of contact for correspondence, to ensure accordance with current departmental policies and standards.

2-16 Accommodating Persons with Disabilities and Persons with Limited English Proficiency.

The Department is committed to ensuring that its correspondence is effectively communicated with its employees, applicants, participants, personnel of other federal entities, and members of the public who have disabilities. Accordingly, your office should endeavor to provide correspondence in alternative formats when necessary to effectively communicate with persons with disabilities. For example, where the Department provides informal correspondence by telephone, the appropriate offices will attempt to make available telecommunication devices for deaf persons (TDDs), placing calls using telephone or video relay services or some equally effective communication system when it is necessary to effectively communicate with persons who are deaf or hard of hearing and, where the Department provides written correspondence, the appropriate offices will endeavor to provide the content of the written correspondence in an appropriate, alternative format (large print, electronic format such as email or MS Word document, or Braille) when it is necessary to effectively communicate with persons who are blind or have low vision. The person with a disability is generally in the best position to determine which means of communication will be effective given that individual’s disability; communication skill; and the length, nature, complexity, and content of the communication (e.g., use of legal or technical terms).

The Department is also committed to ensuring that its correspondence is effectively communicated with persons who have limited English proficiency (LEP). Questions about providing correspondence in translated formats for persons who have LEP should be directed to the Office of Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity.

CHAPTER IV. SECRETARIAL CORRESPONDENCE

4-1 Purpose.

The term secretarial correspondence refers to the Secretary’s and Deputy Secretary’s correspondence. This chapter explains how to prepare letters and memorandums for their signatures, as well as memorandums for their action or information. Use Chapter VI for guidelines on preparation of secretarial correspondence to Members of Congress.

A. For information on how letters and memorandums are written, see Chapter I.

B. For details on preparing letters, see Chapter II.

C. For details on preparing memorandums, see Chapter III.

D. For details on preparing White House correspondence, see Chapter V.

E. For details on preparing congressional correspondence, see Chapter VI.

4-2 Use.

A. The letter format is used for formal correspondence with the public and government agencies and to convey awards, commendations, congratulations, condolences, etc.

B. The memorandum format is used for official, internal correspondence with individuals or organizations within the Department.

4-3 Stationery and Printer Requirements.

CHAPTER V. WHITE HOUSE CORRESPONDENCE

5-1 Purpose.

The term White House correspondence refers to correspondence to and from the President, Vice President, First Lady, and the Executive Office of the President. This chapter explains how to prepare and dispatch White House correspondence.

A. For information on how letters and memorandums are written, see Chapter I.
B. For details on preparing letters, see Chapter II.
C. For details on preparing memorandums, see Chapter III.
D. For details on preparing secretarial correspondence, other than congressional correspondence, see Chapter IV.
E. For details on preparing congressional correspondence, see Chapter VI.

5-2 Use.

A. The letter format is used for formal correspondence with the White House and is always used for secretarial correspondence. It is also used for direct replies to constituents.
B. The memorandum format may also be used, as appropriate.

5-3 Control of Correspondence.

A. White House-Originated Correspondence. The Executive Secretariat controls in CTS secretarial correspondence that HUD receives from the White House, including:
   1. Letters or memorandums;
   2. Mail received by the White House and referred to HUD for action; and
   3. Mail received by the White House and referred to another federal agency that, in turn, rerouted the White House referral to HUD.

B. HUD-Originated Correspondence. All White House correspondence originated within the Department for the Secretary’s or Deputy Secretary’s signature or approval must be controlled in CTS, by the originating program office, prior to being sent to the Executive Secretariat for review, final clearances, and dispatch.
Preparing White House Correspondence.

A. Letters to the White House.

1. Follow preparation procedures in Chapter II for general correspondence.

2. Follow preparation procedures in Chapter IV for secretarial correspondence.

B. Direct Replies to Correspondence Referred to HUD from the White House.

1. Follow the preparation procedures in Chapter II for general correspondence.

   b. “First Lady (insert First Lady’s name) received your letter of [date], and has asked . . . .”

   c. “Vice President (insert Vice President’s name) received your letter of [date], and has asked . . . .”

   d. “The White House received your letter of [date], and has asked . . . .” (Note: This opening is used only when the letter is addressed to a staff member of the White House.)

   e. For undated correspondence, do not reference the date, use “The White House received your letter and has asked . . . .”

   f. “President (insert President’s name) received your telephone inquiry of [date], (or “your email of [date]), and has asked the Department of Housing and Urban Development to respond to you because it administers the federal program of . . . .” (Note: This opening is used when a person calls the White House or uses the Internet.

4. Do not mention the names of White House staff in the text or in cc notations of letters to constituents.

C. Memorandums to the White House.

1. Follow preparation procedures in Chapter III for memorandums.

2. The memorandum format, generally, is not used for the Secretary or Deputy Secretary.

5-5 Follow concurrence, clearance, and dispatch procedures used by your program office’s correspondence unit or point of contact for correspondence, to ensure accordance with current departmental policies and standards.
CHAPTER VI. CONGRESSIONAL CORRESPONDENCE

This includes, but is not limited to, correspondence received by any HUD employee by the following methods:

1. Delivery through the U.S. Postal Service;
2. Delivery by courier services;
3. Email or facsimile; or
4. Handed to them during a meeting, hearing, etc.

It is imperative that this requirement is followed so that congressional correspondence is properly controlled through the Department’s correspondence control system, to ensure that all appropriate offices are aware of, and involved in responding to, congressional correspondence and requests.
B. Congressional Correspondence Received in the Field. HUD regional and field offices must control in CTS, and respond to, all congressional correspondence received directly by their offices. APPENDIX C. SUBPARAGRAPHS

C. Titles or captions after the subparagraph numbers or letters may be underlined and followed with a period. However, if either or both are used, be consistent.

D. Type run-over lines flush with the first word of the subparagraph.
APPENDIX D. QUOTATIONS

A. Short Quotations. A quotation of one or two lines is included in the text. Use single quotation marks to enclose a quotation within a quotation.

SHORT QUOTATION

The regulation clearly states, “Ambiguous references such as ‘herein’ or ‘above’ shall not be used.”

B. Long Quotations. A quotation of three lines or more is typed apart from the text and blocked one-half inch from the left and right margins. After typing the last word of the paragraph preceding the quotation, hit “Enter” two times, hit “Tab” one time, type a quotation mark, and begin typing the quotation. Type run-over lines flush with the first line of the quotation. Single-space each paragraph of the quotation; double-space between paragraphs. Type a quotation mark at the beginning of the first paragraph and each succeeding paragraph. Type a closing quotation mark at the end of the complete quotation only, not at the end of each paragraph.

LONG QUOTATION

The President expressed his appreciation for the achievements of HUD in his recent State of the Union Message when he said:

“Let me assure you that you can have a great career in the Department of Housing and Urban Development. You will feel proud when helping the homeless find shelter and families find homes.

“We must all do our part to help Americans live the American Dream of having safe and decent housing in every city and county in this nation. You will be proud that you are a part of making this happen.”

NUMERALS

There are five basic rules to remember:

1. Spell out numbers nine and under.

   The house has four rooms.

2. Use figures for numbers 10 and greater.

   The house has 14 rooms.

3. Never begin a sentence with a numeral.

   Five new rooms were added to the house.

4. When 2 or more numbers appear in a sentence and 1 of them is 10 or larger, figures are used for each number.

   The class has 11 boys and 6 girls.
   The class has two boys and three girls.

5. Units of time, measurement, and money are expressed as follows:

   10 p.m. (not 10:00 p.m.)
   1 calendar year
   6 years, 2 months, 6 weeks, 3 days (but four centuries, three decades)
   10 feet
   15 cubic yards
   one gallon
   2 percent

   $8 (not $8.00)
   $5.75 million
   $1 billion

   However, units of time, measurement, and money do not affect the usage of other numbers in a sentence.

   The four men finished the project in 8 weeks.
   The 4 men finished the 10 projects in 8 weeks.
Examples of commonly used units of time:
