GREETINGS FROM THE ADMINISTRATOR

Aho! Greetings to one and all!

Up until now it has been a relatively mild winter here in Chicago and we hope a mild one for all of those of you around the Eastern Woodlands region. Weather plays an important role in our lives whether we live in the upper tier of states from Minnesota to Maine or in our southern states from Alabama to North Carolina. In the north, it imposes requirements of building well insulated homes that can also breathe so that they retain heat in the winter but not so much that they suffer from mold or mildew. On the flip side, homes in the south must be built to resist termites that easily... survive mild southern winters and impose more vigorous cooling needs. Both require that they be built to survive severe weather outbreaks such as tornados, straight line winds, or in the south Hurricanes.

Designing such homes is a challenge which is furthered by NAHASDA’s reliance on the Tribes right to self-determination. This is because Tribes can apply their expertise to build homes that best suit the environment where they live instead of a cookie cutter approach of one size fits all. This flexibility has been important to NAHASDA’s success as it also allows grantees to set their own self determined priorities of what best fits their unique situation. Where one tribe might build only single family homes, another may spend it entirely on providing multifamily homes due to a lack of trust land, or another may favor infrastructure development, so that roads, electricity, gas, water and sewer, street lighting, walking trails and community facilities are available for community use allowing individual members to use Section 184 to build their own homes on the lots provided by the TDHE or Tribe.

While NAHASDA is flexible, it still has its limits. One of those is a limit placed by the basic principle of Appropriations Law that ‘funds may only be used for the purpose or purposes that they were appropriated for,’ 31 USC § 1301(a). The purpose of NAHASA is laid out in Section 2 which states that the unique trust responsibility the United States owes to Indian Tribes through treaties, statutes and the general course of dealing imposes an obligation to assist Tribes and their members to improve their housing conditions and socioeconomic status. Providing affordable homes in a safe and healthy environment is an essential element in the special role of the United States in helping tribes and their members to improve their housing conditions and socio-economic status. In short, NAHASDA is there to assist in providing safe decent and affordable housing for Tribes and their members.

The point of reiterating this is to emphasize that NAHASDA was designed to assist improving housing for American Indians and Alaska Native first and foremost. Housing paid for under NAHASDA must primarily provide housing for American Indians and Alaska Natives, though it may tangentially assist others who are essential to the health and well-being of the Tribal community such as police, EMT’s, doctors, nurses or dentists. In a recent round of Negotiated rulemaking HUD and the Tribes agreed to expand the scope of the “Essential Family” exception. Otherwise, NAHASDA housing is limited only to families who are low- and moderate-income enrolled members of Federally recognized tribes, including Alaska Natives. The essential family rule, found at NAHASDA at Section 201(b)(3) and 24 CFR Section 1000.106(b), is practically the only exception which allows non-Indians to live in NAHASDA funded units where there is no qualifying member of a Tribe living in the unit. Despite this change, many tribes have not adopted or reviewed the need to have an existing family rule for their TDHE or Housing Department.

Given that possibility that a TDHE or Tribe might be found in violation of NAHASDA for not adopting an essential family rule, ONAP urges tribes to review the status of their preference policies to bring them into compliance with the Statute and regulations pertaining to the “essential family” rule. Indeed, it is important to periodically review admissions policies to make sure that they are being followed and that tenants are low income tribal members who fit your individual criteria for admission. This ensures fairness in the admissions process and protects TDHEs and Tribes from charges of undue influence and political favoritism in the tenant selection process.

Administrator,

Mark Butterfield

In December 2014, 2 CFR Part 200 – “Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards,” commonly referred to as Uniform Guidance, became effective for all federal agencies and their grantees. This sweeping regulation replaced, combined, and streamlined eight previous sets of federal regulations. Presented by HUD’s Office of Native American Programs, the nine-part training session and additional resource materials on implementing the Office of Budget and Management’s New Uniform Guidance for the Indian Housing Block Grant and the Indian Community Development Block Grant programs can be Here.

IT grants are intended to alleviate or remove imminent threats to health or safety, in that an emergency situation exists or would exist if the problem were not addressed. The grant ceiling for imminent threat requests is $450,000, or $900,000 for Presidentially declared disasters. Click Here for full text.

The Section 184 Indian Home Loan Guarantee Program is a home mortgage specifically designed for American Indian and Alaska Native families, Alaska Villages, Tribes, or Tribally Designated Housing Entities. Section 184 loans can be used both on and off native lands for new construction, rehab, the purchase of an existing home, or for refinancing.

Section 184 is synonymous with home ownership in Indian Country. As of March 2016, the Section 184 program has guaranteed over 33,728 loans, which represents over $5.4 billion dollars in guaranteed funds.

Within the Eastern Woodlands region, over 3,938 loans have been made bringing $565 million in private capital directly to Tribal Members. Tribes and TDHEs can also use Section 184 loans to achieve their housing development goals. Some benefits include:

- Low residential mortgage interest rates
- Lower monthly fees than standard PMI
- One time loan guarantee fee (1.5%)
- May utilize up to 15% of loan funds for site infrastructure costs
- Low down payment
- No household income restrictions
- Buy, Rehab, Refi or Build
- Finance up to 20 units at a time.

If you are interested in becoming an approved 184 lender, contact Michael.T.Thorpe@hud.gov.

HUD ONAP Title VI Loan Guarantee Program. Title VI loans enable Indian Housing Block Grant recipients to leverage up to 5 times their IHBG ‘Need’ funding to finance affordable housing development by pledging future IHBG grant funds as security for repayment of the loan. A private lender provides the financing and HUD provides the guarantee to the lender. To visit the Title VI website, click here. ONAP’s Office of Loan Guarantee has advised that Title VI loans are limited this fiscal year, so the first funded loans will go to applicants whose loan package is the most complete first.
