I. Purpose of this Memorandum of Understanding

This MOU is entered into pursuant to The Economy Act (31 U.S.C. 1535-1536) for the purpose of establishing a partnership between the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Stakeholder Partnerships, Education and Communication (SPEC) group of the Wage and Investment Division.

This partnership promotes a national tax assistance program using the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program. The purpose of this partnership is to:

- assist low-income, disabled, elderly, and limited English proficient persons in meeting their tax obligations by providing educational outreach,
- assist low-income, disabled, elderly, and limited English proficient persons and families in free tax preparation and free electronic filing of federal tax returns,
- provide and disseminate information on earned income tax credits, child care tax credits and individual development accounts to low and moderate income families eligible to receive these benefits, and
- provide and disseminate information on how tax credits can be used to build assets.

The HUD and IRS partnership will link low-income individuals and families to free tax preparation, electronic filing, and asset building assistance.
II. Description of the Departments

A. Department of Housing and Urban Development

HUD's mission is to increase homeownership, support community development, and increase access to affordable housing, free from discrimination. To fulfill this mission, HUD embraces high standards of ethics, management, and accountability and forges partnerships that leverage resources and improve HUD's ability to be effective at the community level.

B. Internal Revenue Service

The mission of the IRS is to provide America's taxpayers with top quality service by helping them understand and meet their tax responsibilities and by applying the tax law with integrity and fairness to all. It is also the IRS's mission to assist low- to moderate-income taxpayers in satisfying their tax responsibilities through building and maintaining partnerships with key stakeholders, seeking to create and share value by educating, communicating with, and assisting customers. The IRS specializes in developing national partnerships with government agencies to promote educational outreach and free tax assistance, much of which targets the low-income, elderly, disabled, and limited-English-proficient persons.

This partnership will help ensure that HUD's clients, many of whom are low-income, benefit from the tax incentives offered through the IRS. The IRS strives to educate all wage-earning taxpayers about tax preparation, with a primary emphasis on the four under-served segments (low-income, elderly, disabled, and persons with limited English proficiency).

HUD and IRS are entering into this MOU to leverage their individual and combined resources and undertake the actions necessary to meet common goals. This MOU establishes the critical framework essential to meeting the challenges of today's low- to moderate-income populace. The partnership will emphasize greater coordination leveraging of existing services and encourage community collaboration and outreach to assist low-income families. HUD and IRS, therefore, will continue to strengthen the quality of life for low-income families and contribute to the quality of life of shared constituents.
